WO BIG JOBS TIED UP BY STRIKE OF 15 HOISTING MEN

ork at New Masonic Temple and New Jewish Hospital Delayed as Result of Their Action.

OTHER BIG PROJECTS MAY BE AFFECTED

n Are Demanding Pay Increase From $1.50 to $1.65 an Hour and Other Concessions.

Building operations at the new Masonic Temple, on Lindell boulevard, west of Grand, and at the Jewish Hospital, at Kingsway and Forest Park boulevards,
were tied up today when 15
hoisting engineers went on strike.
They are demanding an increase in pay from $1.50 to $1.65 an hour.

Other big building projects now under construction are likely to be affected by the strike. They are the Beaumont High School, at National and Vandeventer avenues; the Bell Telephone building,
at Chestnut and Locust; the Roxborough, Thirteenth and Locust; and the Concordia Seminary
at Locust and Locust.

Original Demands of Men.
According to R. L. Murphy, secretary of the Associated Building Crafts, representing about 80 percent of the employers of building craftsmen, members of Local
No. 315, Steam and Operating Engineers, were originally in the demand which was reduced to $1.50 a month.
The walkout date was for today. When the demand was refused, the association ever, all but 15 hoisting engineers withdrew the demand.
The 15 hoisting men and others remain, however, are affected by action of the 15 hoisting engineers.

The original demand, engineers
operate three-drum engines are already receiving $1.65 an hour, asked for $1.80, but this was reduced to a demand for a scale of $1.65 for all hoisting men, most of whom receive $1.50, or about $200 a month with a four-hour week. The original demand also included a number of men, affiliated with the union,
asked for an increase from $1 to $1.12 an hour.

The 15 hoisting engineers now on strike are distributed among several building projects, but so far workout has tied up work only at the Jewish Hospital and Masonic Temple.

Stand of Employers.
Refusing the demand for an increase, representatives of the Associated Building Industries pointed out that hoisting engineers in St.
Louis are already receiving a higher wage than in any other city, with the exception
New York, where the figure is only the same—$1.50 an hour.
The demand, they said, was unreasonable.

Takes 9 Guests to Party 65 Miles in Airplanes

Kansas City Woman Provides Two Craft for Bridge-Playing Friends and They Fly to St. Joseph.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 1.—
Friends of Mrs. Ruby Ramsey of Kansas City, principally members of her bridge club, responding to invitations to be her guests at luncheon today, were advised that preceding the function there would be an airplane excursion to St. Joseph, 65 miles distant as the crow flies, and that the luncheon would be served there. The nine members of the party made the trip
in two planes, one a six-passenger sedan and the other a three-passenger craft.

They took off from Richards
Field, Kansas City, about 11:40 a.
m. and reached Rosecrans Field here at 12:30 p. m. Immediately upon landing the party was driven to Hotel Robidoux, where they remained until late in the day before starting upon the return trip.

The guests of Mrs. Ramsey were
Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Mast, Mrs. E.
M. Miers, Mrs. H. B. Mason and

Roy Wood, in the sedan piloted by
"Tex" Lagrone, and Mrs. Harry
Smith, Mrs. H. C. Block and R.
A. Mason in the other craft, piloted by L. P. Montgomery.

Mrs. Ramsey is an enthusiastic flyer and has several times treated her guests to ride in airplanes at Kansas City, but this was the first time a flight of any distance was undertaken by so large a party.

The guests upon reaching Rosecrans Field declared they had had a delightful trip, with nothing to mar it except that the visibility was not good, on account of somewhat overcast skies.

It had been the intention of Mrs. Ramsey to have her guests in the sedan play bridge during the flight, but that was found to be impossible because of the wind.

Also the guests were enraptured by the flight and had no time for cards. The Missouri River was followed by the pilots all the way

WM. SHEAHAN OF ST. LOUIS SLAIN IN DETROIT CABARET

Son of Former Police Commissioner Shot by Unidentified Man—St. Louis Woman Sees Shooting.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
DETROIT, Mich., April 1.—William Sheahan, 25 years old, of St.
Louis, was shot and killed at 5 a.
m. today in a cabaret at 82 Montcalm street, west, by a person so far unidentified. Helen Noonan Conrad of St. Louis, who, with another woman, was held as a witness, identified Sheahan to the police as the son of a former police commissioner of St. Louis.

Sheahan formerly was a "dealer" in John Ryan's gambling establishment here. The police said he had been shot in a quarrel with a stranger with whom he had been drinking.

The police were told Sheahan had been in the resort about an hour drinking with the stranger. At the time of the shooting there were about a dozen persons in the place, including several women.
Two shots were fired. One struck Sheahan in the head, killing him instantly.

The women, in the confusion
that followed the shooting, fled from the cabaret, leaving their coats. The place was deserted when the police arrived and Miss Conrad and "Billy" Devore were arrested three hours later.

Records at police headquarters
show Sheahan was arrested March 5 on the suspicion of being a pickpocket, but was released. The police also say he used the name of Sheahan. The police telegraphed St.
Louis and sought other persons who had been in the cabaret.

William Sheahan was a son of John J. Sheahan of 917 North Newstead avenue, president of the underwriting firm of Harrigan & Sheahan and a former Police Commissioner.

At the undertaking establishment it was stated that young Sheahan was understood to have been employed as an automobile salesman in Detroit.

FEDERAL AUDITOR ARRESTED Charged with Conspiracy to Defraud U. S. in Tax Case.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Maurice
F. Vernon, auditor in the Bureau of Internal Revenue, was arrested today by Treasury agents on a charge of conspiring with Ellis C. Laskey, a certified public accountant in New York city, to defraud the Government in a tax case.

The Bureau announced also that a warrant had been issued in New York for Laskey.

Officials declared Vernon and Laskey had sought to have the firm of Houlder, Weir & Boyd of New York classed as a personal service corporation, which would have resulted in a tax reduction for the firm of approximately $140,000.

WET GOODS BUT LITTLE WATER AT BRIDGETON FIRE

Roadhouse Man Puts Liquors Out on Lawn, Constable Seizes Them, and Blaze Destroys Buildings.

Robert Gessing, roadhouse proprietor at Bridgeton, St. Louis County, until 2 p. m. today has had a hard day. He was in bed ill at noon when his hired hand built a fire of rubbish beside the barn behind the roadhouse. Sparks
from the bonfire ignited the barn
and in turn set fire to three out-buildings, and a high wind carried the flames to the roadhouse, a rambling two-story structure.

Gessing rose from his bed, clothed himself, and with volunteer helpers carried a quantity of homebrewed beer, some gins and some whisky, as well as many cases of soft drinks, foodstuffs and furniture, to the lawn outside. Then Constable Flood of St. Ferdinand Township appeared while the roadhouse was a mass of flame and concocted the intoxicants, which he carried off to Clayton in his touring car. And a crowd of some hundred spectators gathered, some of whom, before Gessing's very eyes, ate of his food and drank of his soft drinks.

The damage was estimated by Gessing at $15,000. But there is one consolation, he said—he has insurance. The property was completely destroyed. The Ferguson fire department appeared, but departed after determining it was useless to fight the flames with an insufficient water supply.

AMBASSADOR MOORE RESIGNS
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A prospect of another shift among major posts in the diplomatic service developed when it became known that Alexander P. Moore of Pittsburg, Ambassador to Spain
since 1923, had left his resignation before President Coolidge. Thus far the resignation has not been accepted, but there are indications that Moore's definite retirement from the service soon may be announced, and a successor appointed.

At the same time a probability developed that the post of Minister to China, made vacant by the promotion of Dr. Jacob Gould Schur-man to be Ambassador to Germany,
would be filled without much more delay. Schurman advised the State Department he would leave Pekin about April 29.

SETS BARGE SPEED RECORD
By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 1.— Speed records for a self-propelled barge on the Mississippi River were said to have been shattered when the barge Mobile, of the Mississippi River Federal Veterans' fleet, dockered in New Orleans today after making the run from Memphis, a distance of 745 miles, in actual running time of 60 hours, or an average of approximately 12 miles an hour.

The Mobile reported its arrival at New Orleans at 6:30 a. m., approximately 14 hours ahead of schedule. In a radio message to the office here of the Federal line, No.
extra steam pressure was carried,
but the boat was aided by a strong current.

SUSPECTED WINE DEALER SLAIN IN NEW YORK

Body of Max Passwell, Formerly in Cloak Business in St. Louis, Found Near Tenement.

TWO WOUNDS FROM BULLETS IN HEAD

Woman, at Whose Fruit Store He Received His Mail, Makes Identification.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 1.—Max Passwell, 50 years old, formerly in the cloak business in St. Louis, was found murdered here today with two bullet wounds in the head. His body was found stuffed in a narrow arway in the five-story tenement
at 1406 Park avenue at 7:15 o'clock this morning.

The body was identified in the East One Hundred and Fourth Street Police Station by Mrs. Rae
Fain, owner of a fruit store at 983
Sixth avenue, who told the police
she had known Passwell and his brother for four or five years and that the dead man's family lived on Maple avenue in St. Louis. Mrs.
Fain was located by the police
through a letter found in the dead man's clothing, which also revealed a bankbook showing deposits of $60,000 in one bank. Police say he carried large balances in other banks. He is believed to have been a dealer in sacramental wines.

Passwell also reported that Mac Hotel, Seventy-first street and Broadway, but officers of the hotel said that such was not the case. An examination of the register failed to disclose anyone by the name of "Passwell" or any name like it.

The police believe he was slain either in a bootleggers' war or for robbery.

Got Mail at Fruit Store.
Mrs. Fain told the police she first met Passwell when he lived around the corner from her place at the Great Northern Hotel. He used to visit the store every day to buy fruit, she said. During recent months, she told the police, he had asked her if he might receive his mail there. She granted this permission. Mrs. Fain said Pass-well was fond of gambling, and spent a great deal of his time playing cards. She said she last saw him yesterday afternoon when he called for his mail. She gave him a letter. He was in a cheerful mood, she said, and after talking with her a few minutes, departed.

He made two deposits yesterday,
one of $3000 in the Bowers Sayings Bank and the other in the East River Bank.

One thing is certain, detectives say, and that is that Passwell was not slain at the place where his body was found.

He apparently had been dead for seven or eight hours, and no one could be found in the tenement or in the thickly populated district who had heard any pistol shots or a commotion of any kind.

Body Found by Janitor.
The man's body was discovered
by Max Zuckerman, the janitor, who notified a patrolman. The policeman glanced at the body, declared it had fallen from a window
above and reported the matter was accidental. For this reason there was a delay in starting the investigation.

Detectives examining the body
first noticed the bullet wounds at 8:15, two hours after the body had been found.

The dead man is supposed to have a sister, a Mrs. Kaplan, on Maple avenue, St. Louis.

According to Passwell's sister,
Mrs. Charles Kaplan of 5028 Maple avenue, Passwell left St. Louis six years ago and has not been here since. Before that time, he lived with her and was her husband's partner in the cloak and suit business.

Since her departure, she has heard from him occasionally, the last time being a few weeks ago,
when he telephoned her to let her know he had returned to New York
from a trip.

Mrs. Kaplan said her brother never told her what business he was engaged in.

Beauty Parlor Bill Passed.
By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 1.—
The beauty parlor bill passed the Senate last night after much hilarity, by a vote of 18 to 8. The bill has already passed the House and now goes to the Governor. It creates a self-sustaining board of examiners for the regulation of the beauty parlors, hair dressers and manicurists.

DODGE WIDOWS TO SELL AUTO PLANT FOR $100,000,000

Representatives of New York Banking House, in Detroit, Expect to Announce Purchase by Night

REPORTS OF MERGER PLANS DENIED

Concern, Built Up by Brothers From Machine
Shop, Was Left by Them to Relatives.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, April 1.—Negotiations for the sale of Dodge Brothers, Inc., to a buyer or group of buyers whose identity has not been learned, are now in progress here
and an announcement may be expected late today. A. J. Schwartz, local representative of Dillon,
Read & Co., New York banking firm, told newspaper men this morning.

Schwartz, E. G. Wilmer and S.
W. Howland, all connected with Dillon, Read & Co., were in conference at a local hotel at the time Schwartz made the statement that negotiations were under way.

Clarence Dillon, of the New York
firm, was in Detroit last week, it was learned today.

Merger Rumor Denied.
One rumor that had gained headway was spiked today when Alvan Macaulay, president of the Packard Motor Car Co., denied that his company was involved in any merger with the Hudson Motor Car
Co. and the Briggs Body Corporation for the purchase of Dodge Brothers, Inc.

Another rumor to the effect that the General Motors Corporation would purchase the Dodge interests
was given point-blank denial several days ago by officials of General Motors and Dodge Brothers, Inc.

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.
was named in still another rumor
current today as being the firm for which Dillon, Read & Co. is acting.
Confirmation of this and other rumors was lacking.

It has been generally understood that the heirs of John F. and Horace E. Dodge, founders of the corporation, have for some time been desirous of disposing of their automobile company holdings. The corporation since the deaths of the brothers in 1920 has been operated under a trusteeship created by their will. All stock in Dodge Brothers, Inc., is held by the heirs of the brothers.

Price About $100,000,000.
Wilmer, in discussing the negotiations, said:

"Dillon, Read & Co. expects to issue before night a formal statement that it has been authorized to sell Dodge Brothers, Inc., for the heirs of John F. and Horace E.
Dodge, for a sum of approximately $100,000,000.

"The transaction has been completed except for a number of details, which probably will not be ironed out before night."

"Among the details not yet entirely agreed on is the manner of financing the transaction. We cannot say yet whether this will be an entirely cash transaction, or, if not, in what proportion it will involve cash and bonds."

The negotiations for the sale have been in progress for several weeks. Henry Ford was given the first chance to buy and he rejected it, reports in financial circles today.

A $500,000,000 merger proposition next was discussed but according to officials of the Packard
Motor Car Co., the Hudson Motor Car Co. and the Briggs Body Corporation who were mentioned as being involved, this merger never passed the "talk" stage.

General Motors Corporation entered the bidding. Negotiations began with General Motors, however, ended before reaching the final stages.

RAILROAD COUNSEL ASSERTS JUDGE ENGLISH ASKED HIM FOR GOOD JOB FOR HIS SON

Selling Huge Auto Concern

SAYS REQUEST WAS SECONDED BY ATTORNEY FOR TERMINAL

Edward J. White, Missouri-Pacific Representative, Tells of Visit From Magistrate.

AT VARIANCE WITH JUDGE'S TESTIMONY

Witness States Jurist Was Accompanied and Introduced by Counsel for Terminal Association.

Edward J. White, general counsel for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, testified today before the Congressional Committee investigating the conduct of Federal Judge George W. English of East St. Louis, to determine if he should be impeached, that several months ago Judge English came to his office accompanied and introduced by J. I. Howell, general attorney for the Terminal Railroad Association, and asked White for a good place for his son, George English Jr., a recent graduate from Harvard Law School.

The place which Judge English
wanted for his son, White said, after leaving the stand, was that of counsel for the Missouri Pacific in East St. Louis, a position which pays $400 a month. White said he told Judge English that he had nothing for his son.

Second Instance of Kind.
This was the second instance,
developed before the committee,
of Judge English seeking a job for a son. It previously had been shown that he not a job for his son, Paris,
with the Union Trust Co., of East St. Louis, and increased the deposits of court funds in the bank,
officials of the bank admitted, that in addition to Paris English's salary, the bank paid him 3 per cent interest on the court deposits, bringing his total compensation to $5100 a year.

White's testimony elicited the hearing. It was sharply at variance with the testimony which Judge English had previously given in the subject, and brought into it the name of the Terminal Railroad Association, which Judge English had not mentioned at all.

The first mention of this visit came yesterday afternoon, when Congressman Sumners asked Judge English on cross-examination if he had ever sought employment for his son with the legal department of a railroad. Judge English replied that he had visited General Counsel White in the Missouri Pacific office in the Railway Exchange Building, and asked for a job for George these. The testimony appeared significant to members of the Congressional Committee, in view of the extraordinary measures which Judge English had taken to quell disorder
during the railroad shopmen's strike in 1922.

English's Testimony.
Judge English was examined again this morning on the same subject. He did not mention that anybody went with him, but he impressed that he was alone.
When asked if he knew White, he said he had met him once at a Rotary Club luncheon in East St.
Louis. Congressman Sumners invited him to tell of the circumstances in connection with the visit, but elicited no further information.

White appeared soon after Judge English left the stand. The suggestion was not made for him, but he asked leave to make a statement, and after Chairman Boies advised ruling had been overturned
by a 3 to 1 vote of the committee,
he proceeded.

Judge English was brought to my office by Mr. Howell, general attorney for the Terminal Association. White testified. "After introducing Judge English, English
wanted to find a place for his son,
and being an old friend of the Judge's, he, Mr. Howell, wanted to see him placed with us if possible.
He recalled the fact that Mr. White

Mrs. Horace E. Dodge, who with the other heirs will share the proceeds of the sale of the Dodge motor concern, is shown here wearing the $1,500,000 pearl necklace purchased for her by her husband shortly before his death.
This is the famous string owned once by Catherine II, Empress of Russia, the sale of which by a Paris jeweler caused a court controversy over division of the sale price. Dodge was said to have paid $825,000 for the jewels.

Cross-Examination of Judge English Continued at Hearing

nel, our East St. Louis counsel, had recently died, and he thought the place might be open.

"Was nothing open?" "I explained that this vacancy had been filled by the retention of Judge Leroy Browning, Mr. Whitely's partner, I told Judge English and Mr. Howell that I would like to do what I could for them, but there simply was nothing open unless Mr. Browning might give the Judge's son something."

"Did Judge English say anything about his son's qualifications?" asked Congressman Summers. "Yes, he said his son was a graduate of Yale (Harvard is correct), and that he had a good general practice."

In answer to a question by Summers yesterday, Judge English testified that the reason he went to White for a job for George was because "he was just out of law school, and broke, and so was I."

"Did he say that he would particularly like to get him connected with the Missouri Pacific?" Congressman Summers inquired of White. "He did."

"Who represents the Terminal Association as counsel in East St. Louis?" Summers asked. The witness said he didn't know, but E. C. Kramer, counsel for Judge English, spoke out and said: "We do—Kramer, Kramer & Campbell."

Congressman Hersey then asked White if the Terminal Association had any large interests in the East Side, and at the committee's request, described the nature of the Terminal Association, and suggested an idea of the magnitude of its interests.

White was excused, and a subpoena was immediately issued for Howell, with the intention, if possible, of placing him on the stand after the luncheon recess. It was considered certain that White would be recalled later, as he gave a very brief version of the visit.

Members of the congressional committee showed especial interest in the fact that Judge English had said nothing about Howell or the Terminal Association, and by the fact that Judge English had testified that White offered a position which was refused, while White emphatically said he offered none. Yesterday's mention of the subject had been brief but startling.

Out of a clear sky, Congressman Summers, obviously prepared with private information, fired this question: "Have you ever offered employment for your son George in the law office of the general counsel of any railroad?" The Judge, as well as everybody else, started, and then he answered: "Yes, I came over here and saw a Mr. Hill, who was Mr. White, counsel for the Missouri Pacific, and asked about a position for my son."

"Why did you do that?" "He was just out of college, and broke, and so was I."

"When was it?" Congressman Summers inquired, "that you approached Mr. White?" "Within the last three or four months; I don't remember the date."

"Where did this conversation take place?" "In his office in the Railway Exchange Building. I came over to see him."

"Did you know him?" "No, I had just met him once at a Rotary Club luncheon in East St. Louis."

"What did he say about giving your son a place?" "He made an offer," Judge English replied, "but it was not satisfactory to the boy."

"Did you ever approach another railroad lawyer for the purpose of getting a place for your son?" Judge English pondered. "If I did I don't remember it now," he said. "If you can recall any occasion, it might remind me of it."

"Do you know if your son, or any of your friends, have sought employment for him with any other railroad legal firms?" "I don't know what they have done. If they did, I didn't know it."

Railroad Lawyers on Defense, Many Congressmen Thinks, asked, "How many firms of railroad lawyers are representing you here in this inquiry?"

"Well, the firm of Kramer, Kramer & Campbell, who are representing me here, is a firm of railroad lawyers," replied Judge English. "I don't believe Mr. O'Hare or Mr. Acton are. I want to say that I retained Kramer, Kramer & Campbell."

It has been shown that E. C. Kramer, now of Judge English's counsel, obtained many of the injunctions which Judge English granted against the striking shopmen in 1922. His firm represented the Terminal Railroad Association on the East Side, and also represents the Illinois Central and other railroads.

It was brought out today that Referee Thomas got a $10,000 fee for appearing before Judge English in a patent infringement case, although the Referee had had no experience in such litigation. Two other lawyers, one an experienced patent attorney and the other a railroad lobbyist, had appeared with Thomas in this case.

Witness Contradicts Testimony That English Had Retained E. J. Harrell of Carmel, Ill., former Assistant District Clerk in Judge English's court, the first witness at the afternoon session, testified he was in the clerk's office with Michael English, newspaper reporter, and Judge English entered after the disbarment of former District Attorney Karch. He stated that Judge English did not start a revolver on that occasion as was testified by Munie. He testified he heard Judge English say that "I've been on to Karch for a long time." Munie testified that Judge English drew a revolver on him at that time.

On cross-examination, Harrell admitted the National Bank of Carmel, of which he is cashier, was made a bankrupt depositor by Judge English in October, 1923, almost immediately after he and Arthur Charles, former District Clerk by appointment of Judge English, became cashier and president, respectively, of the bank. He stated that the bank was made a depositor by Judge English at the request of Charles. He admitted the table behind which he stood was about four feet high but insisted that he saw "that Judge English was not armed."

Nelson Layman of Duquoin, an attorney, testified he was the attorney for the original petitioners filing the application for appointment of receivers of the Southern Gem Coal Corporation, which resulted in appointment by Judge English of Thomas and W. S. Wilson of Pinckneyville, a retired coal operator, as co-receivers of the property.

Order for $5000 Fee. Layman testified the interests he represented desired the appointment of Wilson and were willing to have Hersey, Rea, official of the company, or Thomas, appointed the other co-receiver. Rea was opposed by the miners, who had filed an intervening petition, and Thomas was opposed by the officers of the company. Layman testified, Judge English suggested the appointment of two receivers because the company was so large.

On cross-examination Layman admitted that he got an order for a $5000 fee as attorney for the receivers from Judge English.

The witness testified that Wilson was in active charge of the company, but sought to leave the impression that Referee Thomas performed considerable work also.

Wilson testified last Saturday that about all Thomas did was "to look after the lawyers." He also testified that Judge English, in appointing Referee Thomas as his co-receiver, referred to him (Thomas) as "my very close personal friend and standing receiver."

In his testimony yesterday, denied making this statement, Layman, who was in the courtroom at the time the remark is said to have been made, was not asked about this point.

Walcott's Testimony. Assistant District Attorney Walcott testified that Karch told him he was disbarred in August, 1922, that he "did not want to be killed," in speaking to him about Judge English. Walcott testified further that Karch told him that a man once told him that he was going to kill Judge English, but that he had not done so.

Walcott testified that Karch told him that he had made a mistake in giving this advice, Walcott testified.

Walcott said that he was in the courtroom the day of Karch's disbarment and did not see Karch or Judge English display a revolver. He admitted, under questioning of Congressman Tillman, that Judge English used the word "damn" in addressing the State's Attorneys and Sheriffs during the railroad shopmen's strike in 1922, but denied that Judge English used epithets attributed to him by several witnesses.

Faris English, the Judge's 29-year-old son, took the stand and admitted that he had collected 2 percent interest on the bankrupt's funds deposited in the Union Trust bank, under the direction of his father. He denied that his father knew he was doing so, and said he did not tell him because he was afraid the Judge would put a stop to it.

Two new babies inside of two years added the burden which determined him to ask for more money from the bank, in which he was employed as general bookkeeper, Faris testified. He said the interest was paid to him on the basis that it was new business brought to the bank by him. He said this plan was suggested by F. W. Kemker, Vice-President of the bank.

This testimony was in direct conflict with that of Paul F. Schaff, Chairman of the board of Directors, who told the committee last week that Faris himself asked that the interest be paid him.

DOHENY SELL MAJORITY OF THEIR PAN-AMERICAN STOCK

NEW YORK, April 1.—E. L. Doheny, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co., announced today that interests controlled by his family had sold a majority of the voting stock of the company.

"We have not, however, parted with small interests in that company," he said. "On the contrary, we remain owners of a large number of shares of the company, stock more than any other stock owned, excepting only Pan-American Eastern Petroleum Co., the purchaser in today's transaction."

Doheny continued: "have retired from the chairmanship of the Board of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co., but remain chairman of the Board of Directors of its California subsidiary, the Pan-American Petroleum Co. It is contemplated that shortly there will be organized a new company to take over the California subsidiary."

Convicted of Swindling. CHICAGO, April 1.—Raymond J. Bischoff, financial manipulator, was testified by Munie. He testified he heard Judge English say that "I've been on to Karch for a long time." Munie testified that Judge English drew a revolver on him at that time.

On cross-examination, Harrell admitted the National Bank of Carmel, of which he is cashier, was made a bankrupt depositor by Judge English in October, 1923, almost immediately after he and Arthur Charles, former District Clerk by appointment of Judge English, became cashier and president, respectively, of the bank. Rea was opposed by the miners, who had filed an intervening petition, and Thomas was opposed by the officers of the company. MAGISTRATE QUESTIONED AT LENGTH ABOUT DEALINGS WITH REFEREE THOMAS

Examination of Federal Judge Adds New and Vital Testimony to Record of Congressional Investigation.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.

In the course of a terrific and spectacular cross-examination at the hands of the Congressional committee which will determine whether he should be impeached, Federal Judge George Washington English of East St. Louis added new and vital testimony to the record of the investigation.

When the eighth day of the inquiry was started this morning at the Federal Building here, Judge English resumed the witness stand under cross-examination. He was the only witness yesterday having been under examination for seven hours, half of the time on direct examination and half under cross-examination. He was excused as a witness at 10:25 a. m. today, after being on the stand 8 1/2 hours.

He told the committee, for the first time, that he requested the resignation of his Referee in Bankruptcy, Charles B. Thomas, after he became convinced that Thomas was neglecting his duties to attend to his work in connection with the receivership appointments which Judge English had given him, and to expand his private law practice.

"Very Limited" Practice. Under questioning by Congressman Hersey, he admitted that, prior to his elevation to the Federal Bench in 1918, he had had a "very limited" practice in the Federal courts, and could recall only one important civil suit which he had tried in the Federal Court, and in that he was an associate counsel.

The cross-examination was sustained and pitiless. Under it, the Judge pleaded ignorance of the law in apology for his methods in disbaring Charles A. Karch and Thomas, and in permitting Referee Thomas to appear before him as counsel in a bankruptcy case.

He denied that he had ever received any money from his appointee, Referee Thomas, and said that he gave Thomas a note for $1435 which Thomas advanced for the purchase of an automobile for the Judge, and that he paid the note. Inspection of the indorsements on the latter showed, however, that it had been paid, not in cash, but in law books and book cases, a rug, and in board for Thomas and his wife, which was charged at the rate of $400 for three months.

Notations on Note. On the reverse side of the note were these notations: CREDITS. Oct. 24, 1921, by rug, $115. Oct. 31, 1922, to law books, $150.

Jan. 10, 1923, for board, $400. May 1, 1923, paid in full with law library and book cases.

Congressman Summers called attention to the fact that the note was made out entirely in pencil, and that the revenue stamps on the document also were in pencil. Judge English said he did not know.

Committee's Examination. The committee's examination of the witness followed cross-examination by Prosecutor Dennis.

The mild-mannered chairman, Congressman Boies, inquired: "Are you a quick-tempered man, Judge?" The witness replied with a brief suggestion of levity that he was a cross between a Scotchman and an Irishman, but Chairman Boies declined to enter into the jest, and repeated the question. Judge English said he supposed that, like most men, he had some temper.

The chairman inquired whether the Judge was in a calm state of mind when he disbarred Webb, and the witness replied that he was.

Judge English had testified that during the four years preceding his appointment he was an attorney employed in the income tax division of the Treasury Department. Boies asked him what his salary was there.

"I started at $2600 a year in 1914, and had been raised to $5200 by the time I resigned to go to the bench."

Questioned by Tillman. Congressman Tillman took up the cross-examination, and in the hands of the fiery Arkansian, it almost immediately leaped to spectacular heights of drama.

"Judge," he began, "weren't you a little puffed up at receiving your appointment at the hands of a great American like Woodrow Wilson?" "Was I puffed up? I hope I appreciated the responsibility of my position," was the reply.

"Did Samuel Gompers indorse you for the bench?" "I don't know," was the rejoinder. "Tillman went on. 'Oh, yes. I discussed it with him.'"

Thomas' Fees Taken Up. "You think he was overpaid?" "Not by the amount he received, but he couldn't do all the outside work he was doing, and do justice to the Referee's office."

"Were you in the habit of using the word 'after you became a Judge?' 'To people generally?' No."

"The vilest term in the English language—reflecting upon a man's mother—yet you used it while you were Judge?" "I think I have."

Asked About Carrying Pistol. "Is it against the law to carry a pistol over in Illinois?" "Not for those who are authorized, as I was."

"Don't you think it was a little undignified for a Federal Judge to carry a pistol?" "It would depend on the circumstances," said Congressman Tillman emphatically. "I can understand why the wild men from Williamson County might carry pistols. I believe the Chief of Police over there got a shirt full of pistols from them when they came to town, but was it necessary for you to carry one?" "I did it with a feeling of necessity—as did my predecessor. His predecessor was the aged Judge Wright."

"Do you consider it undignified for a Federal Judge to use profane language?" "For anyone."

"But you used profanity quite a little, publicly?" "No."

"He made $40,000 or $50,000 a year, didn't he? And you think he wasn't overpaid?" "I never believed he made that much."

"Why, he made forty or fifty thousand off of one concern, of which you appointed him receiver and attorney, didn't he?" (This was the Alton, Granite City and St. Louis Traction Co. case in which Thomas received a total of $40,800 in 48 months as attorney for the receiver.) Judge English admitted that.

"Judge," the inexorable Tillman went on, "would you make an order to each other a $1000-a-month salary, and then let it go on for years and years?" "I allowed that salary in two cases. In one it went on for a year. He never received a penny in the other."

Yet you would make this allowance of $1000 a month, not knowing how long it would go on?" "Yes."

Michener's Examination. With the air of a man who has set himself a task, and performed it, Congressman Michener asked his part of the examination, and strolled outside to take a brief smoke. But the witness was far from being at the end of the thorny path. The earnest and temperate Michener took up the burden.

"What compensation did Referee Thomas receive?" was his opening question. "It was in commissions and fees. I think the examiners paid me $480 a month in another case, did you have in mind the fact that I was acting as Referee in your court?" "Only to the extent that I expected him to take care of the Referee's office first, if it was not finally paid, I expected him to quit one or the other."

"Each Case on its Merits." "Through your various orders you allowed him compensation approximating $50,000 a year, and in addition expected him to do the Referee's work?" "I considered each case on its individual merit, and I appointed him only because the parties requested it."

"That is exactly what I am getting at. You considered each case individually, and not with relation to each other and to his work as Referee?" "I did, except that I considered whether it would impair his efficiency as Referee. When it came to that point, I took up the matter of his resignation of one of the other offices."

"You didn't take it up until the matter became a public scandal in the community?" "You are mistaken about that. He resigned the evening of Jan. 7, and the first part of January, this year."

"He Had Resigned." "Did you," Michener fired back, "immediately go to him about it?" "No, I didn't. He had resigned, and this investigation was on. E. C. Kramer (one of Judge English's counsel) told me about it."

Switching back to the Hawkins Mortgage Co. case, Congressman Michener drew out the fact that Judge English first received notice of his assignment to sit at Indianapolis when Harry Blodgett, St. Louis attorney, and Morton Hawkins, the defendant, brought the order to his home in East St. Louis about 8:20 o'clock at night. The Judge didn't believe there was any collusion in it.

"If Referee Thomas was employed in it because of any belief that he possessed influence with you, you had no knowledge of the fact?" "None whatever," was the emphatic response.

Congressman Michener obtained the admission that the Hawkins case was the only one in which Judge English sat at Indianapolis. Judge Aischuler of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, has said that a St. Louis lawyer obtained the assignment from him, saying that Judge English, as willing to sit.

Michener asked the Judge whether, if the same conditions should arise again as those which existed in the disbarment of Thomas Webb, he would act in the same way. "I cannot say, because I don't know whether my mind would operate in the same way."

"Think I Made a Mistake." Webb testified that he thought Judge English was crazy when he disbarred him, and there was a titter in the room when Michener asked: "Assuming that it was operating normally?" Judge English said he didn't think he would take the same course next time. "I regret it, because I think I made a mistake," he said.

Michener asked him about using profanity from the bench, and Judge English replied: "I have no recollection of ever taking the name of the Deity in vain in my life—not on the bench."

"Did you use the term 'after you became a Judge?' 'To people generally?' No."

"The vilest term in the English language—reflecting upon a man's mother—yet you used it while you were Judge?" "I think I have."

still be doing business at the same old stand, wouldn't he," suggested Congressman Hersey. "No, I had an understanding with him last November that he would resign about the first of the year," was the reply.

"And after that, friendship ceased?" "Not on my part. It hasn't ceased yet, where I'm concerned," the Judge asserted. Asked again about the Hawkins case, the witness said he would have prohibited Thomas from appearing before him if anybody had made objection.

"And if they hadn't, you'd have let him practice there in violation of the law indefinitely?" The Judge said he would have acted as soon as his attention was called to the statute.

"Are you, a Federal Judge, pleading ignorance of the law as an excuse for your conduct?" exclaimed Congressman Hersey. He was darting his pencil at the witness to emphasize his questions. Judge English said the law had escaped him for the time.

"Touching the disbarment of Webb, the Maine Representative, said: 'You wouldn't do such a piece of business again, would you?'" "No, because I know now that the law didn't permit me to do it without a hearing."

Acted Under Old Decision. "Oh, that's another law that you were not familiar with," remarked Congressman Hersey. The Judge said he was familiar with the older decisions, and had acted under the law handed down in 1856. He had heard of the later decisions which altered the rule.

"So you've learned the law now, and know better. But Judge, you guided entirely by the law, and by the rules of courtesy in dealing with the bar?" "Well, I'm old now. I've had more experience."

"Do you think you've learned experience?" "Well, this has been quite an experience," Judge English responded. Congressman Hersey's examination ended in a general burst of laughter.

Hersey Resumes Questioning. Start of Today's Session. When the hearing convened a today Congressman Hersey resumed questioning of Judge English where he left off at adjournment last evening.

"Mr. Thomas appeared in court in practice of other than except bankruptcy matters—no patent infringement case—did not?" inquired Congressman Hersey. "He appeared in one case," replied the Judge.

After developing the fact that the plaintiff, for which Thomas was sued, was the same member asked: "Did you know that Thomas received a $10,000 in this case?" "I have heard of this investigation started through the fact," he replied.

"Did you know that he had previous experience in patent cases?" "I didn't think that," he replied.

Mentions Flannigan. "He didn't know much then, did he?" "He was associated with other counsel, Mr. Wilkinson."

WOMAN OWNER OF WORLD'S LARGEST RANCH DEAD

Mrs. Henrietta King Was One of America's Wealthiest Women and Owned 1,280,000 Acres.

HAD FINEST FARM HOME IN COUNTRY

She Went to Texas as a Bride and First Lived in Blockhouse—Gave Largely to Charity.

By the Associated Press.
KINGSVILLE, Tex., April 1.—Mrs. Henrietta King, 93 years old, virtually unknown to the outside world, and yet possessing the world's largest ranch and rated as one of the country's wealthiest women, died last night.

Proprietor of a ranch bordering the Gulf of Mexico for 100 miles and comprising 1,280,000 acres, which came to her at the death of her husband, Capt. Richard King, pioneer Texas settler, Mrs. King's fortune rose to an enormous figure through the advance of land values from a few cents to many dollars an acre. Her herds virtually were countless, more than 100,000 calves being branded each year.

Coming to the ranch as a bride, Mrs. King's first home was a blockhouse, built as a protection against Indians and bandits. Her last home was of concrete and marble and was described as the finest farm home in America.

Kingsville, a town of 4770, is in the center of the vast estate and is largely supported by the industry of the ranch. Mrs. King, who spent virtually all of her time on the property, was noted for her many benefactions.

Managed Vast Estate. After the death of her husband, many years ago, Mrs. King undertook the management of the ranch which she had inherited.

She fenced the great estate, put a portion of it under cultivation and improved the breeds of livestock.

For many years, Mrs. King employed thousands of men throughout all seasons of the year, with their families upon the ranch in comfortable houses provided by the owner. In addition, she maintained a large tract of valuable land for the support of an industrial school for Mexican and girls.

At the residence, which had many of the features of a castle, built by Capt. King, as a substitute for the early blockhouse, was destroyed by fire. Mrs. King, then 80, lived in a house of concrete and marble.

COMPENSATION BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Minor Amendments Adopted After Debate; To House for Concurrence.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 1.—The Senate has passed the workmen's compensation bill, 20 to 11. Eight amendments of a minor nature were adopted, none of them materially changing the bill as passed by the House. The measure goes back to the House for concurrence.

The bill was passed yesterday after nearly 14 hours of debate, which started Saturday. The measure provides for exclusive private compensation insurance, instead of exclusive State insurance, fought for by labor and carries a weekly maximum compensation of $20 for injured workmen. Labor urged a $30 weekly maximum.

The principal amendment adopted shortened the "waiting period" before payment of compensation should begin from seven days to three days after injury; reduced the salary of the commissioners from $5500 to $4500; provided that the burden of proof should rest with the employer in cases of charges of self-inflicted injury and struck out the provision limiting the compensation to non-resident dependents of aliens.

JURY IN HOGAN ROBBERY CASE IN SECOND DEADLOCK

After Deliberating for 5 Hours Last Night, Twelve Men Take Up Gangster's Fate Today.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
UNION, Mo., April 1.—There are indications of a hung jury, more delay and a fourth trial here for "Jimmy" Hogan, St. Louis gangster, charged with the robbery of the Erie Pillow, negro messenger for the North St. Louis Savings Trust Co. Pillow was killed to prevent his testimony, thereby in a sense being the cause of the reversal of Hogan's 15-year prison sentence at the first trial.

Receiving the case at 5:35 p. m. yesterday, the jurors deliberated more than five hours last night, till almost midnight, when Circuit Judge Breuer sent them to bed in a hotel, and they returned to the jury room at 7:10 o'clock this morning.

After only half an hour for luncheon the jury again was locked in its room. The jurors plainly were remaining friendly with each other in spite of their differences of opinion. The vote was believed to have remained unchanged. If no verdict is reached, a mistrial probably will be declared late today.

It was reliably reported that the jury stood 10 to 2 when it resumed deliberations, and it was believed that the preponderance of the vote was in favor of acquittal. It was believed also that the vote had remained the same throughout the deliberations.

Jury Disagreed a Year Ago. By contrast, it was just a year ago when the jury in the second trial of Hogan failed to agree, after wrangling for 27 hours, but that time the jurors stood 10 to 2 for conviction.

This morning some of the jurors called through a window to a court attaché that they would "work harder" if two pounds of candy and a barber were sent to them. They were disappointed in this.

The crowd that listened to the lengthy and fiery arguments of counsel yesterday afternoon disappeared as the tedious wait for the jury's verdict began. The remaining watchers gathered in the Sheriff's office late last night, were the Judge, Sheriff, a deputy, the Circuit Clerk, defense lawyers, reporters and telegraph operators. Hogan, who, with his body guard, had been outside most of the time, slipped in at 11 p. m. and whispered to the Judge that he could be found at his hotel if the jury came in.

Testimony of the State. In general, the State has shown by its testimony that Hogan was one of the men who held up Pillow, throwing a coat in which were the initials J. B. H. and the tailor's label, James B. Hogan, over the messenger's head. The prosecution also showed that Hogan was arrested in flight in the vicinity where the robbers' automobile was abandoned. It could not show, by testimony of policemen, that Pillow had identified Hogan as his assailant, because the testimony was ruled out by the State Supreme Court in reversing the original conviction.

The defense consisted of the same alibi before, to explain Hogan's presence in the neighborhood where he was arrested, and indicate his absence from the scene of the robbery. It also repeated the testimony introduced at the second trial, seeking to transfer the crime to a dead man's shoes, by the statement of Mrs. Clara Wall, widow of Herbert Wall, an alleged freight thief, that the coat thrown over Pillow was her husband's and that he had used the initials J. B. H. She did not explain the name of Hogan on the label, though, and the tailor could not, for the State had shown that he was dead.

Hogan's mother testified that he was christened James Henry Hogan, which was borne out by a certificate from St. Leo's Church, St. Louis.

This time the defendant did not testify.

HYDE, AT 3 A. M., NOTIFIED MILLER WAS NOMINATED

Telegram Addressed to "Notary Public" Got Former Governor Out of Bed.

Former Gov. Hyde has admitted to St. Louis friends that he received a telegram, addressed in not altogether complimentary terms at his home in Trenton, Mo., the day after Victor J. Miller received the Republican majority nomination.

It came early in the morning and got the former chief executive of Missouri out of bed not so very long after the clock struck 3.

As is known, Miller was deposed as president of the Police Board by Hyde following his Soldan High School immorality charges and was latterly summarily dismissed by the Erie Pillow, negro messenger for the North St. Louis Savings Trust Co. Pillow was killed to prevent his testimony, thereby in a sense being the cause of the reversal of Hogan's 15-year prison sentence at the first trial.

COURT THROGGED FOR ELLINGSON HEARING

Sanity Inquiry Begins on 17th Birthday of Girl Who Killed Mother.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Dorothy Ellingson, accused of killing her mother, observed her seventeenth birthday here today by appearing in court proceedings participated in by attorneys, alienists and other witnesses to determine whether she was insane when she shot and killed Mrs. Anna Ellingson, one night last January.

The jury which will pass upon her sanity was sworn in last night after comparatively brief proceedings. It comprises three women and nine men.

When the proceedings were resumed in Superior Court today the corridors were thronged with persons seeking admittance. They were drawn there not only by the wide degree of interest the trial has provoked, but by the uncertainty developments which may arise today as the result of conflicting statements credited to the defense and prosecution.

The prosecution last night denied that it had obtained a signed statement from the young defendant in which she said she was sane and wanted to plead guilty to a charge of having killed her mother, with a full realization of the seriousness of this admission.

The defense was just as positive in denying the truth of vague reports that their client had repudiated her attorneys and censured them for their alleged failure to consult her before demanding a sanity trial.

Defendant Caught by Father When She Collapses in Court.

Just after court adjourned yesterday the girl, collapsing for the second time within an hour, was caught in the arms of her father, who stretched her on the floor of the courtroom. As she regained consciousness, she screamed piercingly: "Jimmie." At the time of her arrest last January she said at first that a mysterious "Jimmie" had slain her mother. Later she admitted the deed.

She collapsed in her chair in the courtroom late in the afternoon and was carried from the room unconscious. The court session had occupied more than four hours.

and the girl gradually grew tense, shivered and crumpled at the feet of her attorney. It was the tenth time she has fainted since her trial began, but the first time she collapsed in court.

TO EASE JAM IN U. S. PRISONS

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 1.—Department of Justice officials have begun consideration of means of relieving overcrowded conditions in the Federal prisons, and indications were given today that the Federal Government might have to turn again to use of state penal institutions to house some of its prisoners. Superintendent White of the Federal prison system has begun an investigation of the congestion and will work out for Attorney-General Sargent a program to relieve the situation. He also has been directed to consider the methods for increasing the efficiency of prison management. Sargent hopes that while the question is under consideration a way may be found by which the Federal Government can have complete records of all Federal prisoners, wherever incarcerated. With this in view, he has instructed White to give thought to this problem.

Silk Costume Frocks

A Bit in Advance of the Mode

$39.75 and $75

COUTURIERS of Paris made the originals from which these smart costume frocks were adapted or copied. Novel touches in design, details in trimming announce them as frocks just ahead of the mode—models which foretell coming frock vogues. Individual and exclusive models endorse materials like georgette, bengaline, alpaca, canton crepe, and satin. Dinner gowns, afternoon frocks, ensembles, and tailleurs comprise the groups. Sizes 34 to 46.

Georgette promises to be the preferred fabric for the Spring and Summer costume. A new model just arrived is of the semi-tailleur type showing extreme simplicity in the correct Paris manner, with sleeves which flair forth in brilliant embroidery, $39.75.

Correct Ensembles

Introduce New Details in Design

$44 and $69.75

A COAT simply tailored and reaching to hem of frock is one of the characteristic details in the new ensembles. Frocks are made sleeveless with jabots, tiers, or ruffles to ornament the skirt. Combined one achieves a tailleur expressing careful tailoring—frock when worn without coat is an informal costume, becoming for Spring and Summer needs. Prints, solid crepes and novelties fashion the frocks. Twills and mixtures tailor the coats. Sizes 36 to 46. Extra sizes, 42½ to 52½.

Silks in various weaves fashion the new ensembles. Georgette, satins, failles with frock of costume effect or tailored. Fur continues a trimming—preference being shown for monkey fur on satin. A new group, chosen in New York last week, has just arrived, $69.75 to $175.00.

(Women's Suit Dept.—Third Floor.)

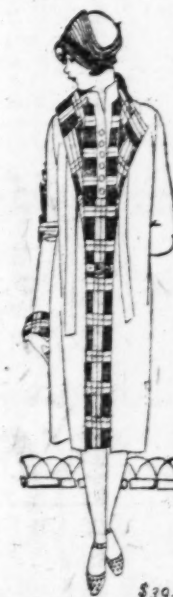

A Junior Ensemble for Little Sister

$15 to $39.75

HER Easter day will be made memorable—the day for her first suit. The little girl, 6 to 14, is a bewitching diminutive of mother—the Ensemble gives her an air of smart sophistication which becomes her.

The models are several—printed crepe de chine frock with coat of flannel; kasharine dress and coat trimmed in satin; flannel coat over dress of silk; flannel dress in bright plaid with coat of kasharine.

EDWIN F. KLEINE IS PAROLED BY GOVERNOR BAKER

St. Louisan, Serving Two Years for Defrauding
City on Coal Weights, to Be Freed Tomorrow.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 1.—Edwin F. Kleine of St. Louis, sentenced to serve two years in the State penitentiary on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the city of St. Louis by delivering short-weight coal, was paroled yesterday by Gov. Baker at the recommendation of the State Penitentiary Board. The parole became effective tomorrow.

Kleine, who is 31 years old, was formerly treasurer of the St. Clair Coal and Mining Co. On Oct. 20, 1922, he was convicted by a jury in Circuit Judge Killoren's Court of conspiring with other officers of his firm to sell coal short-weight to the city Water Department. Miller B. Rosenheim, a weighing clerk, employed at the Bissell's Point water works, confessed that he had falsified weights for the coal company by "throwing" the scales causing them to register excessive tonnage, for which he received $25 a month. Rosenheim was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The specific charge against Kleine alleged that between Dec. 24, 1918, and Jan. 10, 1919, the city paid the coal company $322 for 292,000 pounds of coal which it did not receive. It also was charged that during the tenure of the city's contract, the coal firm defrauded it of approximately $10,000.

The Penitentiary Board's recommendation for clemency recites that "The board entertains grave doubt as to his guilt because of the uncertainty that exists as to whether he was in the country, the State, or the city of St. Louis at the time the offense was alleged to have been committed." This doubt was occasioned, according to the board, by the fact that Kleine's army discharge papers show that he entered the army March 3, 1918, and went overseas May 2, 1918, returning April 18, 1919, or three months after the offense was said to have been committed.

A letter received by the board from Judge Killoren and Circuit Attorney Sidener, dated Nov. 10, stated that no objection to the board's clemency would be made because of Kleine's good war record and the fact that restitution of the money had been made to the city by the coal company. A petition signed by a number of St. Louisans had been received by the Penitentiary Board recommending the parole.

On Dec. 8 last, recommendation for parole was made to Gov. Hyde by the old Penitentiary Board, but was not acted upon. This was Gov. Baker's first exercise of the pardoning prerogative.

Women Robbed of $14,000 in Jewels.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 1.—Three robbers entered the home of Henry L. Williford, an attorney, today, and robbed them of jewels valued at $14,000. One of the men appeared at the home with a package and represented himself to be from a department store. When Mrs. Williford partially opened the door the man thrust his foot in the aperture and struck Mrs. Williford. The robbers locked the women in a closet, cut the telephone wires and then searched the house.

THREE HIGHWAY ROBBERY CHARGES AGAINST YOUNG MAN

The disappearance of 10 radio tubes, worth $40, from the shop of E. E. Baker, at 3121 South Grand boulevard, Nov. 28 last, resulted last night in three highway robbery charges against Clifford Kempe, 23 years old, of 3719A South Compton avenue, all of which occurred in the last two weeks.

Kempe, according to the police, was in Baker's shop looking at phonographs when the radio tubes disappeared. He returned on Dec. 2, Dec. 4 and last Saturday evening, still looking at phonographs, and each time went on about his business before Baker could find a policeman. Last Saturday, however, Baker noted the license number of Kempe's automobile and notified the police.

Kempe was arrested at his home yesterday. The police had nothing to prove he stole the radio tubes, but Capt. Chrismer thought he might be the man who was knocked down twice by Joseph Meehan, 4649 Magnolia avenue, last Friday, during an attempted holdup.

Meehan was called, "Why, you son-of-a-gun," he said, "I'd know you in heaven." Before the evening was over, Kempe had also been identified as the man who took $5 from Columbus Medling of 3956 Cleveland avenue, March 17, and as one of two men who robbed the grocery of John Wegman, 3228 Shenandoah avenue, March 24. Kempe denied all the charges, but warrants were issued today. He has been arrested 20 times for questioning, according to police records.

The Scientific Way

The new RESCO Scientific Fitting Machine which measures the length and width of both feet under the weight of the body. Adopted by U. S. Government and used exclusively in all Regal Shoe Stores.

The Old Way

The old-fashioned size stick invented by Father Time and used for centuries in other shoe stores to guess the length of one foot while you are sitting down.

I Spent $100,000 to take the Guess out of Shoe Fitting

When Uncle Sam called 5,000,000 men to the training camps, and had to fit them with new shoes so they could walk all day with a rifle on their shoulder and a 50-pound pack on their back, he got more knowledge and experience in fitting shoes in three years than all the shoe salesmen in the world had accumulated in three centuries.

I gave up my job as President of this Company and accepted a new position to help Uncle Sam establish Training Schools for Officers over here, and over there, to teach men how to fit shoes in the training camps.

Surveys made in eight camps showed that 41,852 out of 58,706 were fitted from 1/2 to 3/4 sizes short, before the Resco Foot Measuring Machine, which I invented and presented to the Government, was officially adopted by the United States Army, September 20, 1918.

Now, what was the trouble, and what is the answer?

The old-fashioned method of trying to fit shoes by measuring the length of one foot with a size stick when you are sitting down, is a guessing contest from start to finish.

The Foot Rule is no relation to the Size Stick. I can't find anybody who knows what the unit of measurement of the size stick represents. Some say it's a Barleycorn.

If your foot measured size 6 on the size stick, it would measure about 10 1/4 inches on a foot rule, and the salesman would tell you that you should wear anything from a 7 to an 8 1/2.

He never attempts to measure the width of the foot with the old-fashioned size stick—so that's all a pure guess.

And furthermore, he only measures one foot, and every man in the training camps had two feet, and the right width of both feet is just as important as the correct length.

We took all the guess out of fitting shoes for the soldier when we first used the RESCO Fitting Machine to measure the length and width of both feet when he was standing up with a pack on his back.

When you stand up in this new RESCO Twin-Foot Fitting Machine, it automatically and accurately measures the length and width of both feet at the same time.

The delicate mechanism is scientifically adjusted to measure the foot expansion and register the length and width of the shoe required to properly fit both stocking feet when the "standing weight" is placed on the sensitive springs.

Now, just for the fun of it, if you want to make a shoe salesman stutter, ask him what the unit of measurement in the size stick means.

Ask him why he doesn't give you the size you actually measure on the size stick.

Ask him why he only measures the length of one foot while you are sitting down, when the only time you use your feet is when you are standing up, and then you like to use both feet.

Ask him if he knows that the Army Survey shows that in measuring both feet, in 60% of the cases the left foot is larger than the right, and 40% of the measurements show the right foot is larger than the left.

Ask him if it wouldn't be more sensible to measure the length and width of both feet while you are standing up, before he starts to jump up a ladder to get a size he guesses might fit one foot.

I couldn't get a satisfactory answer to any of these questions, that's why I have spent the last five years in improving the machine that I designed for the Army, to take the guess out of fitting your feet.

The RESCO Shoe Fitting System is now installed in every Regal Shoe Store from Coast to Coast, and if you would like to know the correct length and width of both feet under the weight of the body, you are cordially invited to come into any Regal Store at any time, without any obligation to purchase.

$120,000 MISSED FROM MAILEDFOUND BY A CAR CLEANER

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., April 7.—August Lehman, a car cleaner, and Herman Reis, alias Chuck Connors, are in custody in connection with the loss from the mails in Buffalo of $120,000 in currency on Feb. 27. Lehman says he found a pouch containing $120,000 in $10 bills, consigned to the Federal Reserve Bank of Detroit from Washington, under a pile of empty mail sacks in the corner of a car which was sent to be cleaned in the yards here where he worked. Postal inspectors said the pouch apparently had been lost in the transfer of the car.

Lehman took the money home, keeping it there until stories appeared in the newspapers about the robbery, and then hid it in a garage. There the authorities last night found $115,000. The other $5,000 Lehman had lost in gambling, he said, or otherwise disposed of with the aid of Reis. The bills were traced when Joseph Serianina paid a fine for Fred Reeves, in the United States Marshal's office. Serianina was seized and through him the money was traced to Reis and then to Lehman.

TELLS OF MILK CURE FOR LOCAL INFECTION

Dr. E. F. Muller Gives Theory
That Injections Build Up Body's Resistance.

By stimulating the body's own power of resistance by the injection of milk, the cure of local infections may be accomplished more quickly and thoroughly than by treatment by local application.

This is the claim of physicians who have made a study of the action of non-specific protein therapy, as presented last night to the St. Louis Medical Society by Dr.
Ernst Friedrich Muller, associate professor of internal medicine at the University of Hamburg, who is doing research work at Columbia University.

The action is brought about by
the involuntary nervous system,
which controls the action of all organs of the body which do not depend on the human will. Blood vessels, which cause blushing and sudden paleness, are controlled by
the involuntary nervous system,
the speaker explained as an example.

White blood corpuscles in the marrow bone system are the main carriers of the body's resisting power and if a non-specific protein is injected, a stimulus is conducted to the bone marrow which stimulates it to a greater production of white corpuscles.

Through the involuntary nervous system, these corpuscles are directed to the place where they are most needed, or, to the place of infection.

The action is not chemical, but merely natural, Dr. Muller explained. The most recent discovery, which has made nonspecific protein therapy practicable, is that the involuntary nervous system is stimulated by a foreign protein which acts by increasing the body's natural power of resistance.

The treatment is particularly successful in treating venereal diseases and skin infections, and further research is expected to improve the method and widen its scope of usefulness.

POLICE BOARD MAY ABANDON BANK MESSENGERS' ESCORTS

Lack of Sufficient Men for Beas
Likely to Result in Abandoning Practice, Orrick Says.

The practice of providing police escorts for bank and payroll messengers may be discontinued, it was said today by Allen C. Orrick, President of the Board of Police Commissioners.

Lack of sufficient men to patrol
the beats properly may make the action advisable, according to Orrick. Such protection has been furnished business houses, banks and theaters whenever the request was made and the demand has been increasing lately due to the growing number of payroll robberies. Companies supplying assured cars to banks and business houses can give the necessary protection, Orrick believes.

The measure has been discussed
by the new board and definite action is expected soon.

The victims are said to have been sleeping in the one-room building.

CONSTIPATION means MISERY

Rouge and powder will not cover up the effects of constipation. The bowels are the worst abused and most variously damaged of any organ of the body. When they are clogged, they cause lusterless eyes, dingy complexions, pimples and blackheads, bad breath, headache, bilious attacks, heart burn, acid stomach, belching, depression, nervous exhaustion, chronic weakness and other more serious ills. The bowels should act at least twice daily.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN The Family Laxative

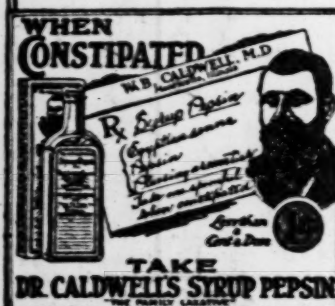

—will produce proper bowel action and insure a healthy condition so Nature can exercise her proper function. A delightful liquid combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin, and pleasing aromatics originally prescribed by Dr. Caldwell for ailing patients of his extensive practice and used nationally for the last 30 years by all members of the family.

Acts As Nature Acts!
No Inconveniences!

It does not act as a purge, forcing the bowels to artificial action, but gently and easily, without pain or discomfort. 10,000,000 bottles used annually prove its effectiveness. Old people, young people, children and babies can be kept in perfect health through its use.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

AUDIT OF ALL CITY BOOKS RECOMMENDED

Grand Jury Mentions "Serious Discrepancies" Brought to Its Attention.

Recommendation that the books of all city departments be audited annually as soon as possible after the close of the fiscal year, is contained in the final report of the February grand jury to Circuit Judge Taylor today.

The reports refer to "serious discrepancies" in city books brought to its attention as proof of the need for annual audits. The reference apparently was to tax-assessment frauds in the City Assessor's office, for which Chief Deputy Assessor William P. Ettlin was indicted by the outgoing grand jury, after a previous indictment had been dismissed because of technical defects.

As to published statements of Ray Renard, Egan gangster, now in prison, for robbery, that he is willing to appear before a grand jury here and disclose details of murders and other crimes, the grand jury reports Federal authorities are reluctant to permit him to come to St. Louis, but efforts will be made to bring him here.

Another recommendation is that visitors, including women, be permitted to accompany the grand juries on their inspection of city institutions. The grand jury's report concludes with praise for Mayor Kiel, the Police Department, Circuit Attorney's office and the judiciary.

BRENTWOOD TRUSTEES AGAIN CHALLENGE AUTOMOBILE CLUB

The Automobile Club of Missouri failed to appear at the Brentwood City Hall last night to show cause why the boulevard stop at North and South and Manchester roads should be eliminated and explain the alleged maligning of the integrity of Brentwood's officers.

A previous engagement entered into before the challenge of Brentwood was received was pleaded, so the Board of Trustees of Brentwood issued another challenge for the club to appear April 14.

Printer's Sick Stomach and Headaches Almost Cost Job

Mr. E. M. Collins of Woodhaven, N. Y., says: "Instead of plodding through my work wearily on account of sick headaches and sour stomach, I now enjoy good health and ambition, can do more and better work and life is worth living. I have never before given my name to a 'cure' medicine, but you cannot imagine how different I feel since I discovered Carter's Little Liver Pills."

Carter's Little Liver Pills tone the whole system through the liver and bowels. They act as a mild and effective laxative in a gentle manner without any bad after effects.

HOSPITAL INFORMATION BUREAU ON STORM VICTIMS

Institutions Where Injured Are Established Central Office at 2221 Locust Street.

To prevent confusion and the disturbing those who are critically ill, a central information bureau of which latest records are kept of those from the tornado area being cared for in St. Louis hospitals has been established in the offices of the St. Louis Chapter of the Red Cross in the Social Service Building, 2221 Locust street, Dr. L. H. Birmingham, superintendent of Barnes Hospital and administrator of the St. Louis Children's Hospital, announced today.

Numerous calls have been made to Barnes Hospital, as well as others, by persons who either wanted information about the storm victims there or who wished to be of some service. Gifts of various kinds have come in, and while the motive behind the donations is appreciated, hospital authorities say all that possibly can be done for the patients by outsiders is in contributions made to the Red Cross fund.

Dr. Birmingham urges that "those desiring to help should contribute to the fund being raised for the relief of the tornado sufferers. Checks may be sent to Festus W. Wade, treasurer, Red Cross, 721 Locust street."

U. S. BATTLESHIPS EXCEL PAST GUNNERY RECORD OF NAVY

More Progress Made in Last Year Than in Period Preceding War, Say Experts.
SAN PEDRO, Cal., April 1.—A gunnery record unequalled in American naval history has been established by the 12 first-line battleships of the United States fleet, says Vice Admiral Henry A. Wiley, commanding the battleship divisions of the fleet, in a letter of commendation made public here. "The commander, battleship division," states the letter, "takes the occasion of the conclusion of the gunnery year to express his satisfaction with the excellent work of the ships. "So far as I have been able to determine, the performance of these ships as a whole has never been equaled." Fleet gunnery experts say more progress has been made from the gunnery year just closed than in the entire preceding period since that early departure on the 11- the World War, despite the fact that Australia cruise necessitated crowding the entire schedule into six months.

"We Have Them"

by

Shirley Deane

Anyone who follows the style innovations in the Rue de la Paix and on Fifth Avenue, will find a striking similarity between the style announcements of Paris and New York and those of Sonnenfeld's of St. Louis.

To keep in touch with Sonnenfeld's modes is to keep in touch with the styles that are newest, and to find that even at popular prices, if modes are new, are smart, are fashionable—"we have them."

Taffeta Dresses

If you've just come from the East, you know how fashionable New York is infatuated with Taffeta Frocks: black, shiny, glistening, lace trimmed. "We have them."

(Dress Shop—Fourth Floor.)

Painted Frocks

From Palm Beach comes news of the vogue of the Painted Frock, in large block or floral designs, in Easter egg colors, on white crepe de chine; a refreshing, fascinating mode for Spring and Summer. "We have them."

(Dress Shop—Fourth Floor.)

Striped Chiffons

From Paris comes word that Striped Chiffon Frocks are newest of the new, lending a gay, sport air to Summer festivities. You will see them at smart resorts; they are strikingly different, with long sleeves and flaring skirts. "We have them."

(Dress Shop—Fourth Floor.)

Black Silk Coats

Midst all the fervor for colorful Spring modes, arises a decided partiality to smart Coats of black ribbed silk and black satin, with new fur borders. They are indeed ultra chic. "We have them."

(Coat Shop—Third Floor.)

Two-Piece Suits

—are swinging back into favor. And no wonder, with their tailored trimness, their hip-length jackets, their velvet collars, their double breasted smartness. Paris and New York are wearing them. "We have them."

Warns That Law Pro-

Cannot Create EfficiencyOVERFLOW CROWDS
AT ALL MEETINGSNominee Forced to Speak to Two Gatherings Which Could Not Get Into Hall
in North St. Louis.

The government of St. Louis cannot be better than the men who administer it. William L. Igoe, Democratic nominee for Mayor, said in a series of addresses last night which dealt with the responsibility of the Mayor in the matter of appointment of capable department heads.

"The law prohibits dishonesty," he said, "but it cannot correct the defects of inefficiency. Men of unquestioned technical training and professional experience must be appointed to the responsible positions. The Board of Public Service must be composed of men who thoroughly understand their duties and have the interests of the people as their sole consideration."

"Never before in the history of St. Louis has it been of such vital importance to put the affairs of the city in the hands of capable, honest and careful men as it is now. The expenditure of funds authorized by the bond issue will make the municipal government an enterprise of the first magnitude."

Igoe had overflowed crowds at every one of his meetings and at the principal one, North St. Louis Turner Hall, he was forced to address two gatherings which could not get into the main hall.

Drops Safeguards for Contractors.
"Contracts by the city for public work during the next four or five years will aggregate many millions of dollars," Igoe said. "It is imperative that the letting of these contracts be surrounded by every safeguard that will prevent waste or favoritism or dishonesty on the part of public officials, but it cannot supply the defect of inefficiency. It is upon the Mayor that the obligation falls to select men who not only observe the letter of the law, but by ability, earnestness and devotion to the public interest insure the taxpayers against loss through bad management and waste."

"It is to the interest of the contractor, no less than to the advantage of the taxpayer, that awards of contracts be made on the basis of merit and that the inspection of work performed be fair and impartial. Every contractor ought to have the assurance that his bid, made in good faith and in conformity with the specifications, gets the same treatment that is accorded to his competitor. There can be no favoritism to particular contractors except at the expense of the taxpayers. There can be no laxity in the inspection of public work done under contract or otherwise, except to the detriment of the city. As a result of any discrimination of this kind, for or against a particular contractor, the city is sure to get either poor workmanship or inferior materials. In contracts totaling $1,000,000 or $20,000,000, this kind of favoritism means a tremendous loss to the taxpayers."

Question of Appointments.
"My determination is to select as members of the Board of Public Service men in whom the people of St. Louis can repose confidence. I will appoint to those positions only men who will be filled by engineers, men of the best technical training and experience and of the highest personal and professional integrity. For other positions on the board I will choose men of business experience and executive ability. I will think only of fitness in making any other appointments in the municipal government. The government of St. Louis cannot be better than the men who administer it. The laws which prescribe the duties of municipal officials are plain enough, but they will not in themselves produce good government. The first requisite is character and capacity in those who obey and enforce the laws. The appointment of such officials is the heaviest responsibility that the Mayor of St. Louis faces and he cannot fulfill that responsibility in a fair and impartial system of awards. They must be made to feel certain that they will be treated equally and equitably."

Two days after he had made the speech Miller appeared before a Board of Education meeting called especially to hear him and promised to substantiate his charges to the board. There followed a long secret session of the board with Miller present.

Here Miller went back on his promise and served them first and above all as a faithful, conscientious and zealous agent.

"The city buys each year several million dollars' worth of supplies, principally food, medicines and equipment, for the various institutions in which it gives care to the sick, the defective and the unfortunate. The money thus expended in the purchase of such supplies and of the quantity covered by contracts. Every fraud against the city is reprehensible and punished rigorously. I intend, if I am elected, to exercise strict precautions against any such vicious practices against any such vicious practices. In this instance, too, the contractors who furnish supplies are concerned along with the taxpayers in a fair and impartial system of awards. They must be made to feel certain that they will be treated equally and equitably."

Victor J. Miller
AND THE
SOLDAN High School EPISODEUnsubstantiated Charge
That Vice Clubs Existed Among Students Was Printed in Newspapers
From Coast to Coast—Failed to Prove It to Investigators.

"I HAVE learned on good authority" That was the only logical foundation needed by Victor J. Miller, now Republican candidate for Mayor, upon which to base a public charge that certain Soldan High School girls were members of clubs requiring immorality as an entrance requirement.

Coming at the height of Miller's talkative career as President of the Board of Police Commissioners, the Soldan High School scandal, as it was called, spread from coast to coast, was printed on the front pages of dozens of metropolitan newspapers and in time became a subject for the jokes of the vaudeville wise cracker.

Within a few days after he had made his charge, in which he also declared that "I know—I know" that such a club existed among the boys, Miller had a chance to prove his charges and had failed.

It developed that for the charges against girls Miller had no more proof than what he had "learned on good authority," a mass of hearsay and rumor. Miller said, "I have learned on good authority" that such a club existed among the boys, Miller had a chance to prove his charges and had failed.

The sensational indictment of Soldan students was made during the course of an address before a community meeting at Kingshighway Christian Church on the night of March 8, 1922.

"I have learned on good authority," Miller said, "that there is an organization among certain girls students in one of our city high schools founded upon the entrance requirement that each member must have had an intimate relationship with some boy."

"I know—I know that such a society with similar admission requirements exists among a group of boy students at the same school. Just think of it! My information has been so convinced me that I have detailed a number of special officers and policemen to work on the case."

Miller's way of putting the charge—the contrast between "I have learned on good authority" and "I know—I know"—showed to many the weakness, in his own mind, of the charge against the girls of the school—even if he did consider the charge against the boys well grounded enough for him to believe. But he made them in public, nevertheless.

Miller's speech, which because it was not particularized, cast a stigma on every high school student, was the subject of criticism. Within a few hours he had named the high school as Soldan and parents' organizations of that school had demanded that Miller prove his charges or retract them. Miller declared he would prove them before the Board of Education and waited for the conference while the number of his supporters grew with the number of his critics. He had declared his auditors should "go west of Kingshighway" to find the worst moral conditions and his remark had won him admiration in some quarters as coming from a man who did not fear to criticize corruption even in high social places.

Two days after he had made the speech Miller appeared before a Board of Education meeting called especially to hear him and promised to substantiate his charges to the board. There followed a long secret session of the board with Miller present.

Here Miller went back on his promise and served them first and above all as a faithful, conscientious and zealous agent.

"The city buys each year several million dollars' worth of supplies, principally food, medicines and equipment, for the various institutions in which it gives care to the sick, the defective and the unfortunate. The money thus expended in the purchase of such supplies and of the quantity covered by contracts. Every fraud against the city is reprehensible and punished rigorously. VICTOR J. MILLER.

COMMENT OF ST. LOUIS NEWSPAPERS ON THE
SOLDAN SCHOOL SLANDER

ALL St. Louis newspapers joined in editorial condemnation of the action of Victor J. Miller, now Republican candidate for Mayor, in declaring that there were vice clubs among boys and girls students at Soldan High School. The charge was made while he was president of the Police Board.

Following are excerpts from editorials of St. Louis papers other than the Post-Dispatch:

The Star, March 20, 1922: "It is quite apparent from the report of the Soldan Parents' Committee and from the newspaper accounts of the past week that Police President Miller failed to substantiate his charge that a vice club of boys and girls existed at Soldan High School."

Following a criticism of the narrowness of the scope to which the committee had limited the testimony, namely, to a word proof only of the specific charge of organized vice, the editorial continues:

"It is easy to see where this leaves Mr. Miller. He blundered into a statement which he could not prove and which, as the Star said at the outset, was presumptively false."

The Globe-Democrat, March 21, 1922: "The gratifying fact that Mr. Miller's charges have been so thoroughly disproved leaves him without justification for his sensational charges and it is much to be regretted that he should soil a successful administration as Police Commissioner with such indiscretions, which give comfort and support to the lawless elements that oppose law enforcement."

The Times, March 13, 1922: "The chief trouble with Victor Miller is that he is a notoriety seeker. . . . so credulous that he does not make a thorough investigation of even the most horrible charges. The Times could give many examples of the hideous charges that he made at a public meeting concerning students, which he retracted subsequently to Soldan High School."

"Mr. Miller's course, as the Times has contended from the first, can not be justified even if he had proof of some of the charges he made. . . . He is not fit to be entrusted with his present responsible position."

Followed a long secret session of the board with Miller present. Here Miller went back on his promise and served them first and above all as a faithful, conscientious and zealous agent.

"The city buys each year several million dollars' worth of supplies, principally food, medicines and equipment, for the various institutions in which it gives care to the sick, the defective and the unfortunate. The money thus expended in the purchase of such supplies and of the quantity covered by contracts. Every fraud against the city is reprehensible and punished rigorously. I intend, if I am elected, to exercise strict precautions against any such vicious practices against any such vicious practices. In this instance, too, the contractors who furnish supplies are concerned along with the taxpayers in a fair and impartial system of awards. They must be made to feel certain that they will be treated equally and equitably."

promise and refused to discuss his charges, declaring that the board had no jurisdiction over the acts of pupils outside of school hours. The Soldan High School Parents' Association was more insistent in the demand for Miller's proof and finally he consented to appear before a committee of five parents to outline what he had learned. He prepared a long list of specifications of evidence.

Six of Miller's witnesses named in the list that he heard statements made by others about the existence of immoral organizations. Another witness, a merchant, had told Miller that a friend told him that the friend was conversing with a girl who said she belonged to a vice organization at Soldan.

Still another witness, a former student at Soldan, had heard of the existence of vice clubs and like Miller had been "reliably informed" of an immoral club of girls. The witness D, a school teacher not at Soldan, was ready to testify that "teachers often discussed among themselves the existence of student vice clubs."

A physician was willing to state that a reporter had told him of a boys' vice club. Two other witnesses reported they had also heard of such a club from others. The witness designated G had complained to the Chamber of Commerce about what he regarded as vicious conditions.

The witness H reported that his daughter, a student at Soldan, was forced to abandon him, and that he was now supporting him. He expressed his confidence that the Twelfth Ward would give Miller a good majority.

"Appreciates Opposition."
Miller then went to Swedish Hall in the Twelfth Ward, at Kingshighway and Manchester avenue, where he reiterated "his faith in the American form of government and the American people." He said that he "appreciated the opposition of the Post-Dispatch" and declared his newspaper never had espoused any constructive policies. Rumors and charges in the late stages of the campaign were to be taken with a grain of salt, he said, and declared that "political cowards" were circulating rumors about him, that was untrue in an effort to obscure the real issues of the campaign.

"They come down into South St. Louis and whisper: 'Watch that fellow, Victor Miller. If he's elected you can't buy coffee on Sunday if you give him, and you encourage him, he'll turn out the lights and even close up the churches on Sunday. I defy the Post-Dispatch or anyone else to show one respectable home the police ever entered at any direction. They wrecked lives where thieves and thugs congregated, but dives are not homes, in my mind.'"

"The Post-Dispatch charged me once with ordering a raid on a respectable hotel, where 75 respectable citizens were arrested. The respectable hotel was the Alhambra and the respectable citizens included 14 persons, several of them ex-convicts and the remainder of them police characters. Ideas of respectability vary."

Miller then entered the Fifth Ward meeting at Twenty-second and Franklin avenue, where he mentioned that "Dinky" Colbeck, leader of the Egan Gang, was Democratic committeeman of this ward until his 25-year sentence to Leavenworth penitentiary for mail robbery. Miller arraigned gangsters, said they had intimidated Republican voters, and received a shower of applause from the negroes present.

"They didn't give you non-partisan government, did they?" he asked. "Suppose 'Dinky' got out and came back here under a Democratic administration. If you want to see the City Hall might be met by 'Dinky' at the door. The way I'd greet you would be something like this: 'Kick in, kid, kick in.'"

Miller's final appearance was at a negro meeting at 4261 West Kennerly avenue, where he said that "Dinky" Colbeck was Democratic committeeman of this ward until his 25-year sentence to Leavenworth penitentiary for mail robbery. Miller arraigned gangsters, said they had intimidated Republican voters, and received a shower of applause from the negroes present.

A discussion of business principles he intends to apply in municipal government if elected, ended with a denunciation of "gangsters" and declarations for law enforcement in four addresses of Victor J. Miller, Republican nominee for Mayor, last night.

His audiences, which filled the capacity of every hall he entered, passively listened to his promise that "fads and fancies" would have no place in his administration and that he would employ only sound, constructive, forward-looking business policies. But when he stalked into his well-known trade against "gangsters," "political cowards" and the like he seemed to strike a responsive chord.

He began in the Twelfth Ward, where Collector Edmund Koeln presided. In introducing the nominee, Collector Koeln said he had supported former Circuit Judge J. Hugo Grimm in the primary because he believed Judge Grimm a better man. He said that Miller was the majority candidate, however, and that he was now supporting him. He expressed his confidence that the Twelfth Ward would give Miller a good majority.

Mrs. Willebrandt Tells of Stone's Clash With Mellon
On Dry Law EnforcementSecretary Finally Consented That Injunctions
Be Used Against Breweries—Too Much Attention to Small Cases.Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General in charge of the legal end of prohibition enforcement, told the Senate committee, headed by Senator Couzens, some of her troubles in getting the Treasury Department and Secretary Mellon to co-operate with the Department of Justice in proceeding against dry law violators.

Former Attorney-General Stone, just before he was elevated to the Supreme Court, finally won a four-year fight, she said, to get the Secretary of the Treasury to acquiesce in letting the Department of Justice proceed by injunction against breweries, instead of pouncing on them by libel and seizure methods. These, she said, had proved ineffective.

Mrs. Willebrandt produced letters between Stone and Mellon indicating how the latter finally capitulated when Stone emphasized that the Department of Justice was making no real progress with the seizure system, but was put to such heavy expense that funds to continue it were giving out.

Stone, the letters show, had delivered a virtual ultimatum to the effect that if Mellon and the dry unit insisted on continuing the seizure method, the Treasury would have to provide the guards, assume the expense and take over the responsibility.

Mellon Finally Yielded.
After conferences, the Secretary of the Treasury yielded, the witness said, and since last January the Department of Justice has been resorting to injunction to close up breweries found violating the law.

In the Pittsburgh district, Mellon's home, and in which also are the Overholt distilleries, in which Mellon was once the principal figure, it was costing the Department of Justice $100,000 a year to maintain guards at $5 a day each at seized plants, Mrs. Willebrandt said.

She told of many complaints that the seizures were not effective, that the whisky and other liquors were being made and were leaking out constantly. The dry unit seized some 20 breweries in the Eastern Pennsylvania district, she told the committee, and the burden and expense of guarding the plants was a heavy drain on the Department of Justice.

Mrs. Willebrandt said the seizures were not successful in drying up brewery sources of supply, and that the seizure process "is a posture and not an actual effective remedy."

Breweries Ran Unlawfully.
One of Stone's letters to Mellon emphasized that "breweries when under guard in the custody of United States marshals were continuing to run unlawfully," and this was particularly true of Eastern Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Willebrandt said she had protested against the appointment of a "man by the name of Littleton" as special assistant to the Attorney-General to try prohibition cases in Western Pennsylvania. He was appointed, she testified, "at the request of Secretary Mellon."

After further questions had developed that after one case had been tried and lost Littleton had made a motion that the others be nolle prossed, the committee asked if it was not a fact that the judge refused to nolle pross those cases upon the ground that the case that was tried had not been properly presented?

"It was so reported to me," Mrs. Willebrandt replied.

able, honest and courageous heads. These heads must have a well-trained personnel under them. Only those men should head departments whose capability, honesty and courage has been proven by experience. They must be able to withstand criticism from newspapers and other sources of pressure.

"The same method should be used in choosing them that private business uses. A private business corporation does not take a chance on untried men in responsible positions. Business standards must be used in choosing big executives for the city's departments to conduct the city's business."

Practical Man Needed, He Says.
"The proper expenditure of the bond issue money requires engineers of the highest caliber and only such men should head departments; men whose experience has given them a practical as well as a technical education; men who understand the practical side. The city cannot afford to take a chance on theorists. The city is not an experimental laboratory. Sound business methods must prevail."

"Before any money is spent for any purpose whatever it must be demonstrated clearly that the purpose is one which good business promotes. Following fads and fancies results in a great waste of public funds and I pledge you that fads

DRY LAW PROSECUTOR

MRS. MABEL WILLEBRANDT.

"No convictions were obtained in any of the cases that Littleton had anything to do with," she continued.

James J. Britt, who is attending the hearings as counsel for the prohibition unit, said Littleton never had been connected with the unit, but he understood that he is or was employed in the office of the Solicitor of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Too Many Small Cases.
The Federal Government's biggest burden, said Mrs. Willebrandt, lies in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Rhode Island and Pennsylvania, while the least trouble is found in the Western states.

She declared proper co-operation between Government agencies in prohibition enforcement was lacking, but declined to express her opinion on the proposal that the prohibition unit be placed under the Department of Justice instead of the Treasury Department.

One of the main obstacles to adequate enforcement of the law, she said, was the crowding of court dockets with small cases, while the big bootlegging operators are not reached by investigators. Truck drivers and "half pint" bootleggers, she explained, are brought into court, but the source of their supply is not interfered with because of the excessive attention given the minor offenders.

Asked for her opinion on how enforcement could be improved, she asserted:

"To sum up very briefly, I would say better trained agents, fewer, but larger cases, which would result in less congestion in the courts, and their more speedy trial."

She agreed with committee counsel "that there is room for improvement in the matter of issuance and revocation of permits."

As to New Jersey enforcement, Mrs. Willebrandt said: "There has been entirely too much politics throughout the entire State."

"We had too much trouble," she said, "getting the evidence and enforcement decrees and prosecuting cases, and the only assignable reason was that the defendants had political influence."

She said that the chief aim of the Mayor should be to build up a personnel in the various departments. The Mayor who surrounds himself with competent heads of departments as his advisers will assure himself of proper co-operation in carrying out the business of the city. The government of the city of St. Louis is the biggest individual business in this city."

Congressman Dyer of the Twelfth District spoke before the Fifth Ward meeting and assailed the hypocrisy of the Democrats in putting forth a non-partisan label.

"Their candidates would have filed as non-partisans," he said, "but that would have taken the Democratic machine support from them. They talk of minority representation. That means some representation in the legislative branch of government ordinarily. But here they are trying to make it mean the Mayor's office. They know the Mayor makes the appointments at the city hall and controls all the Worthless.

Victor J. Miller's business dealings in Kentucky of which the Post-Dispatch has told in the last two days, were cited in a campaign speech delivered last night by Wayne Ely, former Assistant United States District Attorney, as bearing on Miller's fitness for the office of Mayor. Ely spoke at the Igoe-for-Mayor meeting at North St. Louis Turner Hall, Twentieth and Salisbury streets.

Ely read, from the Post-Dispatch, the letter written by Miller to a business associate in Kentucky, boasting that a bond which his company had posted to indemnify subscribers of the American Indemnity Exchange was "in reality not worth the paper it is written on," and that he, Miller, had purposely had the bond drawn in its worthless form. "The very brilliant chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board," Miller wrote, "was not able to see that there was no liability under the contract."

"Shyster Tactics."
"Those are Victor Miller's own words," Ely said. "When he wrote that letter he was bragging, as he usually is. He was gloating over the fact that he, a lawyer, had succeeded, by the adoption of shyster tactics, in drawing up a worthless document and convinced a representative of the Workmen's Compensation Board, which has as its aim the protection of the laboring man, that this worthless paper would protect the working man. He boasted about his ability to cover up in questionable phraseology the fact that he was perpetrating a fraud upon the Workmen's Compensation Board."

"Does Miller's admission over his own signature in the letter sound like a guaranty of his honesty? If that is his idea of what honesty is, let us hope that he will never be exalted to the high office of Mayor or to any other office in this or in any other city."

Crimes When Miller Held Office.
Ely repeated the list, given in a previous speech, of major crimes committed while Miller was at the head of the Police Board, listing five such crimes while Miller was at the head of the board, and three others while he was a member of the board.

He cited Miller's statement in reply to the charge that he caused the raiding of homes, Miller having said that the places raided were not homes, but dives.

"Why doesn't Miller quit dealing to generalities," Ely asked, "and point out some specific instances of his lawless career of law enforcement? When this modern Daniel entered these dens that he sneaks of, were the lions there, or had they, as he says, fled to parts unknown? Does the word unknown mean refuge, or does it mean that the parts to which the criminals and gangsters fled were merely unknown to the general public? The parts unknown could not have been very far distant, as the gangsters and criminals never found it to be a very hard matter to appear upon the scene when there was a bank messenger on the streets."

Jobs. That's what they really want. They'll give the Republicans the Board of Aldermen which makes no appointments if they can have the Mayor, who makes them all."

Congressman Newton of the Tenth District also urged the election of Miller, and of the divided responsibility in government does not make for progress.

Schedule of Meetings.
Republican meetings today include a tea for women of the Twenty-eighth Ward at the home of Mrs. W. T. Nardin, 6255 Westminister avenue, at 2 p. m.; an Eighth Ward tea meeting at 8 p. m. at Soudard Market Hall, Eighth and Carroll streets;

A Record of Service.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WOULD like to refute the charge that Mr. Igoe is a partisan candidate. Being in need of his assistance, I was advised to write Congressman Igoe. I had a very guilty feeling, as my brother, who represented the family at the polls, not only voted against Mr. Igoe, but was an active supporter of his opponent, Mr. GILL. To my surprise this had no bearing on the case and both Mr. Igoe and his secretary, Mr. Cochran, left nothing undone in Washington and also here to bring my case to a successful issue. This is only one of the many similar cases. During and after the war a great many mothers and other relatives of the boys at the front were advised as I to write Mr. Igoe, even outside his district. They were not given questionnaires to state their color, race, creed or politics, nor did they need political endorsements. All received kind, courteous replies and prompt service.

Another factor not considered by Mr. Igoe, and one that is usually uppermost in the mind of those in a position to be slow favor, was the social and financial standing of the applicant. All who had dealings with Mr. Igoe know his services were always given gratis, and to offend to recompense him in a material way would be an insult.

Now let us all show our appreciation to this lifelong St. Louisian by voting and working to place him at the head of St. Louis, where he can serve us in a greater capacity.

A GRATEFUL BOOSTER FOR IGOE.

Lawless Law Enforcement.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A FEW years ago Kansas City became a law enforcement mad and consequently appointed a military man for Police Commissioner and signed up every hard-bodied, irresponsible man they could get on the police force.

They were going to rid the city of gangsters, thieves and gamblers. The order was to shoot them on sight, bring them in on a slab. And the result was that murders, holdups and bank robberies increased three-fold, while innocent unoffending citizens were arrested on suspicion and men and women were clubbed in the streets by these irresponsible officers of the law, but not a single gangster was arrested or murder or theft solved.

During this reign of lawless law enforcement, a large detective agency that had charge of the night watchmen were looting store windows nightly. Conditions became so bad that the citizens feared the officers of the law more than the lawless. They did the gangsters, and this is not half. But that is usually the kind of law enforcement we get from those who talk so much about it.

Irresponsible people always make rash promises. Let us not have that kind of law enforcement in St. Louis.

I've been around most all of the first-class shops and I have struck some barbers that ought to be working for Swift or Armour. If the worst comes to worst my wife can cut hair just as good as any barber. Well I should worry.

OLD TIMER.

Planets and Storms.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE destructive storms March 18 show the importance of watching the earth in its annual trip around the sun and studying and pointing out the danger points ahead in the earth's path. All physical disasters of the earth are caused by the increase or decrease of the repelling force of planets or stars which the earth encounters along its path—the increasing force causing atmospheric highs and increased volcanic pressure, and the decreasing force resulting in storms, rains and earthquake contractions.

Those Missouri and Illinois storms and rainfall in places are among the contractions caused by the position of the big planet Saturn, the moon and the largest planet, Jupiter.

Evasive.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN the old minstrel show one end man asked the other one, "Who was that lady I saw you with last night?" And the reply was: "Why does a chicken cross the road?" It is evasive for Victor Miller to say that he has given no promises of jobs, etc. If he is elected Mayor, patronage would be dispensed by his helpers and the "business" interests.

VICTOR'S LAST RESORT.

Victor J. Miller, Republican candidate for Mayor, is quoted in his afternoon organ, the Star, as saying about the Post-Dispatch at his Euclid Hall meeting Monday night:

I recall and you will recall and all decent men and women of St. Louis will recall, that in the last campaign for 30 days before the election this same newspaper called the President of the United States a plain, ordinary thief.

A candidate must be desperate to lie like that. The object of the lie is manifest. It is intended to break the force of the Post-Dispatch's plain statement from the records of the Workmen's Compensation Board of Kentucky of Miller's tricky and dishonest dealing with the board. If he wants to discuss the question of honesty he ought to discuss that statement. Why doesn't he discuss the rotten bond he secured and put over, his boasting of the dishonest job and his false oath? But he refuses to discuss these things. He says he has nothing to say. What can he say?

He is convicted by his own testimony of inducing the Kentucky board to accept a worthless bond in lieu of cash to protect the subscribers and others insured in the American Indemnity Exchange, of which Miller was the head and attorney in fact.

He is convicted by his own testimony of putting over on the board a bond which he declared "was not worth the paper it was written on," which was secured with that understanding. The bond was obtained from the Southern Surety Co., of which Miller was the principal stockholder.

He is convicted by his own testimony of writing a letter to a representative of the American Indemnity Exchange stating that the bond was worthless, and boasting that he had deliberately deceived the Kentucky board.

He is convicted by his own testimony of making affidavit that his company had a bond in force in Kentucky to protect those insured in the American Indemnity Exchange, with full knowledge that the bond referred to was worthless.

What can he say about this base transaction, admitted under oath by himself? His only recourse is to lie about the newspaper which printed the facts.

LITTLE FAVORS AND BIG DEFICITS.

In the United States Shipping Board's deficit of last year there was a little item of something between $220,000 and $250,000 paid out in rebates to Senators and Representatives, stage favorites and impetuous noblemen of Europe, who took passage on the Government's lines.

Mention of petty graft, of course, offends Washington dignity, particularly at a time when the country has failed to become greatly exercised over graft of a higher magnitude. Passing by that phase of the matter, therefore, it is none the less interesting to recall why, in the opinion of the big business sponsors of the present regime there should be less government in business and more business in government, why government operation doesn't pay and why the White House, in a fever of economy, forced its employees to forego the sanitary conveniences of paper drinking cups and towels.

It might as well be conceded at once that Government-operated steamship lines, like Government-operated railroads, in the hands of enemies of Government operation will not pay. And it may be expected that Congressmen accepting soft snags from the Government shipping administration will not turn a deaf ear to that administration when the time comes for asking "just a little favor."

ELY & WALKER.

The purchase of the Carleton Dry Goods Co. by Ely & Walker makes St. Louis the wholesale dry goods capital of the Middle West. The companies have a combined capitalization of $15,000,000 and last year their sales comprised $60,000,000 of a total of $140,000,000 in this market. Such an event as this is of interest to the whole city, a city which is making vast gains in commercial importance. To the continued success of Ely & Walker!

D. CUPID, SCOFFLAW.

The Nebraska Legislature has just abandoned an attempt to regulate the personal habits and private affairs of Dan Cupid. By a vote recently taken the State eugenics marriage law will be officially abrogated July 1, after two years' trial. Moreover, so anxious are County Judges of the State to restore Mr. Cupid's liberty that they have issued leave by which Nebraska lovers may disregard the law from now on.

This complete failure to reform Cupid by law might have been expected. Cupid laughs at legislators as Love laughs at locksmiths. The eugenics marriage law required him to serve 10 days' notice on a couple so that they could post intentions to wed where all might see. And did he? Not by a quiverful. Creeping up on hesitant young things at the last minute he sent his arrows home. So they eloped to Iowa, Kansas or South Dakota, where 10 days' notice is not required. Marriages decreased two-thirds in Nebraska.

Cupid revolted all the way down the line. He believed in blushing brides, but not blushes that come from answering the obnoxious, intimate questions put by the eugenics marriage law. He insisted on matching eugenically outrageous pairs. He shot with his eyes closed.

Finding that the law considered his aim bad, Cupid's victims limped away to Iowa, Kansas and South Dakota, where marriage clerks made allowances for the little fellow.

Nebraska was plunged into an orgy of bootleg marriages. Jewelers missed sales in wedding rings. Furniture houses objected. Clothing stores lost business. And, worst of all, preachers were going without their fees. Marriage was being driven from the State. The thing could not go on. A great wave of popular resentment alarmed the legislators. Cupid was a scofflaw, but even the preachers wanted him to go ahead and scoff. So he scoffed the law out of the statute books.

The Geneva peace protocol has had funeral honors, says Mussolini. And never was there a more exultant mourner than the Fascist dictator.

EQUALITY OR DISCRIMINATION?

So far as it concerns St. Louis the motorbus regulation bill has been killed in the House. The bill has been passed by the lower chamber with an amendment excluding St. Louis and other large cities from motorbus regulation by the State Public Service Commission. The Senate, which killed a similar amendment, must either concur or send the bill back to the House for further consideration. A deadlock, of course, would mean its final defeat.

The St. Louis members chose to accept the issue as a simple matter of local versus State control. This is not the real issue. The State Public Service Commission is the established medium for the regulation of public utilities of the cities, including street car and traction systems. The motorbus is a competitor of the street cars. Is there any valid reason why it should not be brought under the same control?

The street cars, because they operate at lower fares, are the main conveyance of the people. Though their service is more costly the motorbuses have been permitted to invade the territory of the trolley lines, thus not only blasting the hope of lower street car fares but threatening to increase the present fare. The effect of their competition has been to revise the cost of service upward.

The issue is not between two companies or between two forms of service. It is between low cost of transportation and a higher cost. It is not an issue between State and local regulation but between the equality of a common control of two competing public utilities and the discrimination and non-operation of a separate control.

Senator Spencer is reported to be hurrying to St. Louis to take part in the mayoralty campaign. Is he making the voyage in Commodore Newberry's flagship?

A GLORIFIED THIRD STREET.

Tuesday's Post-Dispatch contained a brief news item to the effect that the Committee on Engineering and City Planning of the Safety Council recommends that Third street be made a double-deck street, the upper deck to be used for automobile traffic, while street cars would be kept on the street level. The remodeled street in the downtown district is to be 100 feet in width.

What an ambitious plan! To convert this ancient narrow thoroughfare into a double-deck super-highway 100 feet wide would be a transformation that suggests many things. Of course, the first use of such a broad stretch of street, almost on the river front, would be its convenience as part of the greatly needed loop, both for automobiles and street cars. With one-way streets east and west as feeders, this glorified Third street might be the beginning of a resurrected business and factory area east of Broadway that would stir all that district, now so backward, into new life and up-to-date improvement. There would incidentally be an increase in property values such as downtown St. Louis has never seen. If the suggestion comes to anything, this inevitable increase should pay its share of the entire improvement.

The son of Harold McCormick of Chicago has appeared on the first page as a day laborer in overalls. Members of that family usually make the first page in orange blossoms or divorce suits.

FAMILY HARMONY IN TEXAS.

In Texas family government goes along swimmingly. With a pen of gold "Ma" Ferguson signs a bill which restores "Pa's" civil and political rights. Thus by legislative enactment the ex-Governor resumes the full stature of citizenship, while "Ma" says "this is the happiest signature I have ever written."

It's all so nice and homey. At their adjacent desks in the Capitol "Ma" and "Pa" beam lovingly at each other, secure in the knowledge that they have the confidence of the people. Weren't the Fergusons thoroughly vindicated at the polls last November? Of course they were. Didn't "Ma" have what amounts to a mandate to tear off the shackles which, since his impeachment, have prevented "Pa" from submitting his case to the people? No question about it.

To the sticklers for convention, to the rigid precisionists of New England, government in government may seem hopelessly undignified, not to use a harsher term. But wholly aside from the governmental capacities of the Fergusons, they are certainly enacting one of the best old dramas of domestic affection that has been seen in many a day.

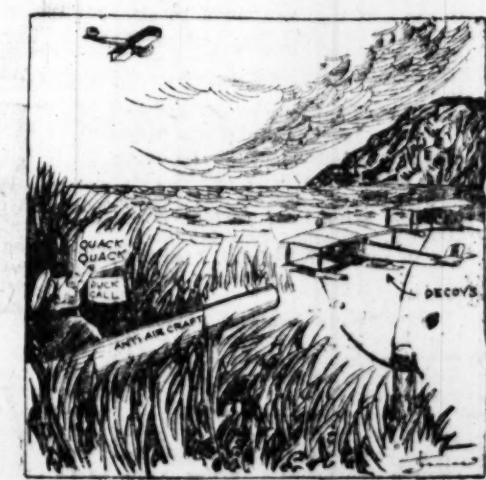

Besides, if Texas, which is most intimately concerned, gives a hip-hip-hoorah for "Ma" and "Pa" what right has anyone else to cavil?

While urging us to vote for Mr. Miller we hope Senator Spencer will shed a few precious tears over the public's cruel misjudgment of Mr. Sinclair and Mr. Doheny and the other splendid gentlemen who swindled Uncle Sam out of the oil reservations.

A story is told about the agreement of officers of the Baldwin Locomotive Works not to take a drink for a year. Well, we're not going to take an ocean voyage every time we feel like taking a drink. That's final.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the Post-Dispatch

To J. D. H.
(Words and Music.)
I've sent a lot of poems
To this here "Just-a-Minute,"
And when the paper comes each night,
I wonder if I'm in it.

I often grab it eagerly.
And if I don't appear,
There always are the others
Whose names are very dear.

There's "Thee," "Thine," "Thou," "Thy,"
The noble poet, Heide,
Whose songs are truly beautiful,
There's nothing he ain't said!

And there are many others,
Whose stanzas I've often read,
But the guy who's got "my stanzas"
Is this fellow, Joseph D. Heide.

MARGARET D. BOSWELL.
APRIL FOOL.

Mr. Fall, who sold us out to the oil interests, has been sent to prison.
Most of the baseball experts think the St. Louis team will win the pennants this year. Wayne Wheeler, lobbyist for the Anti-Saloon League, says we cannot have representative government again until the Washington lobby is dispersed.

The State Department has decided that it was all wrong about Count Karolyi and has turned him over to the loycom bureau.

Mr. Bryan will speak at the Coliseum to-night on "Millionaires and Other National Evils."

Senator Reed is now giving about half his time to outside speeches for the International Court.

Missouri has at last passed a compensation act upon which everybody is agreed.

Sir: Secretary Hoover is the economic medicine man of the administration and he, therefore, is appropriately chosen to administer a dose of soothing syrup to the country in its present rather jumpy state of nerves.

It is all very well to minimize the significance of the market, now that it is falling, but there was no disposition to do so in that quarter when it was rising a while back. Then it was hailed as a healthy reaction to the Coolidge victory.

Perhaps the Secretary will explain how the market works both ways—up for Republican prosperity, and down for Republican prosperity, too. "Heads, I win; tails, you lose."

The honest Election Board that has just gone out of office could get a testimonial dinner, but it couldn't get reappointed. From which we must believe that our interest in honest elections is chiefly post-prandial.

Osborne Wood, back in America, says he has plenty of money. Evidently he didn't waste his time on the trip across looking for whales.

In amassing a Republican campaign fund for the municipal election, there is always the City Hall.

Even handbills are not an unmitigated evil. They discourage collectors.

AVOIDABLE OR UNAVOIDABLE?

Someone has said that "the most important thing about a man is his philosophy." Most of us do not know that we have a philosophy; but we all do have one, and often it sticks out all over us. We can't even write a trolley sign without lining up on one side or the other of some of the great questions that have vexed philosophers since they began to be.

This morning, in a trolley car, I sat gazing at a sign that ended thus:
"Conductors are not allowed to deposit fares, except in unavoidable conditions."
(The black-face is mine.)

The writer of that sign clearly believed that at least some conditions are avoidable. But this is just what great bodies of thinking men always have denied. Most scientific men say that conditions depend wholly on other conditions that precede them, and so on back into the darkness of the past.

Einstein tells us that every event takes place in a framework of space-time, and that this extends before us as well as behind. It is sprinkled all over with events; all we have to do is to pick them up; we can neither make nor mar them. As I once heard a St. Louis scientist say: "We can only look on; we can't do anything."

Moreover, the great fatalistic religions, such as Calvinism and Mohammedanism, agree with this. God foresees all; what, then, is there for us to do? This, so far as I know, is the only thing on which orthodox religion and science agree. Their conclusions are identical, although they get there by different paths.

Now, I don't agree with all this, so I was glad to hear Bishop Hutcheon, at the noon service at Christ Church Cathedral today, say, "But this rank fatalism doesn't get us anywhere."

Good for the Bishop! I am glad he agreed with me and with the United Railways. I think we can count on the bus lines, too. The way they worked at Jefferson City indicates that they regard certain conditions as eminently avoidable.

PHILOSOPHICUS.

Sir: Sign in the West End (of course):
"Beautify Shopping."
By the way, I have at last figured out what made the "bull in a china shop" so mad. They had changed their name to a "China Shoppe," which the bull innocent mistook for a Chinese laundry, where it would be entirely safe for him to indulge his playful impulses.

On entering he was so enraged at the deception that he proceeded to smash up the works in the best manner of Vic Miller himself—if and when elected.

ANTY-SWANKY.

Sir: An ad from the classified columns under Household Goods:
Partly declining housekeeping will:
sell her dining-room set, mahogany;
bedroom set, oak dresser, d.-bed,
wicker rocker, refrigerator, room-size
rugs, etc.; can be seen at Langan Storage Warehouse.

Is this what the cross-word puzzles do to them?
AUTOLICUS.

If Victor Miller can come as near carrying the city as the gangsters came to running off with it while he was president of the Police Board, the election is going to be close.

The MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to register without bias the latest comment by leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

TENNESSEE AND EVOLUTION.

From the Ohio State Journal.

EVOLUTION is now taboo in Tennessee. They have not gone so far for the present as to order the process itself stopped, but the Legislature has passed a law, which the Governor has signed, forbidding the teaching of the subject in the public educational institutions of the State. That ought to hold it for a while. Thus a Legislature and a Governor, doubtless pastoral almost to death by a vociferous outside group, set up their judgment on a scientific theory against the judgment of all the world's recognized scientists. They do more than that; they announce that the teachers who believe what the silly scientists say must hold their tongues about it in the sovereign State of Tennessee or lose their jobs.

Which is it, ridiculous or pathetic, or both? We guess it is both. It is ridiculous that so many well-meaning people think the search for truth can be halted by the enactment of a prohibitory law. But it is sad that the great cause of religion must suffer so in the house of its friends.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVERS.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

TEN hit-and-run automobile accidents have been reported to the San Francisco Police Department since March 1. One death has resulted. Arrests have been made in five cases. That is San Francisco's record, and it is not reassuring. Oakland's experience is the same. We have had numerous crusades against this class of motorists. Sometimes it has seemed that the efforts of the police and the courts have been effective. But each time the result has proved to be only temporary. There is but one way to deal with this class of drivers. They are entitled, of course, to fair trials, but if found guilty they should be severely punished. They have no right to expect mercy, for in fleeing from their victims they show none. Small fines, or any kind of fines, or brief imprisonment, have no effect. Jail for the limit prescribed by the law is the only remedy. When hit-and-run drivers understand that conviction means a term in the penitentiary, as the law permits, it is possible that this menace may be wiped out, or at least reduced to less appalling proportions than the police reports for this month disclose.

STAMPING OUT INTERTEMPERANCE.

From the New Orleans States.

THERE are wets and there are dries. There are those who bless our prohibition amendment and those who curse it. No matter how you feel, however, statistics in the Canadian province of Quebec, where there is scarcely any restriction on the sale of the "cup that cheers," show a steady decrease in intemperance. In 1923 there were about 265 convictions for drunkenness in each 100,000 of population in the province. In 1922 there were 309; in 1920, 553. This may mean either of two things, according to the way you look at it. That prohibition is not necessary to stamp out intemperance. That Canadians know how to behave better than Americans.

VESPASIAN WARNER DIES AT CLINTON, ILL.

Served Four Terms in Congress and Was Commissioner of Pensions.

By the Associated Press.
CLINTON, Ill., April 3.—Col
Vespaian Warner, 82-year-old millionaire resident of Clinton,
major in the Civil War, for four terms Congressman from this district and Pension Commissioner under Roosevelt and Taft, died last night at his home here.

Warner was born at Farmer City, Ill., and when he was less than a year old he was taken by his parents to Clinton. His father was a physician.

When a boy, Vespaian sold papers on trains. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted in the Twenty-third Illinois volunteers.

His first service was in Missouri. Then he was at Fort Donelson, where he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant. After the battle of Shiloh, on the road to the battle of Vicksburg, he had a presentiment
of coming harm and burned a package of letters that had been received from his sweetheart back in Illinois. In the fight he was struck by a bullet that passed through his right cheek.

He served with Gen. Logan round Vicksburg and afterwards
the staff of Gen. M. D. Leggett.
Warner was at Kennesaw Mountain in the battles around Atlanta.
He was disabled by a horse falling on him and was invalided home shortly before Sherman marched on his march to the sea. Early in 1865, Lieut. Warner was ordered to the plains,
where a campaign was in progress against Indians. He saw considerable Indian fighting, especially in Nebraska. He was mustered out July 22, 1866, as a Captain and brevet
major.

Warner then entered the law department of Harvard University.
He graduated in 1868 and began practice in Clinton.

He was first elected to Congress in 1894 and was appointed Commissioner of Pensions in 1905.

JURISTS MEET TO PASS ON CODE OF INTERNATIONAL LAWS

Legal Authorities to Submit Findings to League and Non-Member Nations.

GENEVA, April 1.—Determination of what is meant by progressive codification of international law is the first and important question facing the 17 international legal authorities assembling here today under the auspices of the League of Nations. The arrival
last night of George W. Wickersham, former Attorney-General of the United States, brought a full attendance.

Gov. Hammarskjold of Upsala,
Sweden, will preside. Mr. Wickersham, participating in the opening address, is expected to outline the American theory of how codification can be accomplished.

Members of the league declare
there are three separate and distinct theories which can be advanced. One is to tabulate the existing international customs which heretofore have constituted unwritten laws in international intercourse. Another is using treaties, conventions and protocols as a foundation. It is tacitly understood that laws of war touching on blockades, prize courts, etc., will be left untouched.

The commission is inviting the collaboration of the American Institute of International Law, International Law Association, International Institute of Comparative Law, International Judicial Union
and the Institute of International Law. The session will continue 10 days after which recommendations will be submitted to the league and nonmember nations.

CIVIL WAR VETERANS TO VISIT SCENE OF BATTLE OF SHILOH

Veterans to Travel by Steamboat to Celebrate Anniversary of Engagement.

Civil War veterans who survived the memorable battle of Shiloh,
which was fought on the banks of the Tennessee River on April 6 and 7, 1862, will gather in St. Louis

tion of the sixty-third anniversary of the encounter by the Survivors of Shiloh Association.

The veterans will travel on the steamer Tennessee Belle of the St.
Louis, Paducah and Tennessee River Packet Co.'s fleet. It will leave the foot of Pine street at 5
p. m. tomorrow on its initial trip
of the season, traveling down the Mississippi and up the Ohio and Tennessee rivers to the battlefield
in Tennessee, which is now a national park.

Before the steamer's departure
the veterans will be entertained by city officials, the Chamber of Commerce and local G. A. R. organiza-

it is an important matter!

POLICE PAY BILL MEANS 6-CENT TAX INCREASE

Budget of $5,000,000 Submitted for Department for Next Year.

The Police Department budget for the fiscal year 1925-26, aggregating $5,034,275, submitted yesterday to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, contains an increase of $604,275 to provide for salary increases authorized in a bill now awaiting Gov. Baker's signature.

Assuming that Gov. Baker will sign the bill, it will mean an increase in the tax rate of 6 cents on the $100 valuation. The present tax rate of $1.51 for municipal purposes will be advanced to $1.57. The maximum allowed by law is $1.59.

The police pay bill provides an increase for patrolmen of $25, from $145 to $180 a month. Should the firemen's increase of $25, from $155 to $180, aggregating about $250,000, be approved at the election April 7, it will mean that appropriations for other municipal purposes will have to be pared down to fit within the $1.59 maximum, according to Deputy Comptroller Gunn. Salaries increases in other departments are out of the question, he said.

The largest item in the police budget is $3,855,775 for salaries of commissioners and all members of the Police Department, against $3,253,000 last year. The item for other salaries, mainly the clerical force, is $490,000, against $435,000 last year. The 1924-25 budget was $4,430,000.

Other items of the police budget are much the same as in previous years except that $100,000 is provided to complete a police station now under construction and $200,000 to build a new station and improve existing stations.

In estimating the increased tax of 6 cents for police salaries, Gunn assumes the bill will go into effect about July 1 and be in effect about two-thirds of the fiscal year. Next year it will be the equivalent of an 8-cent tax rate.

GENERAL MANAGER MARTIN OF ASSOCIATED PRESS QUILTS

Resigns to Form Other Business Connections, Says Announcement by President Noyes.

NEW YORK, April 1.—An announcement is made of the resignation of Frederick Roy Martin as general manager of the Associated Press, effective after the next annual meeting of the members, April 21. Martin retired from the board of directors in 1912 to become assistant general manager, and succeeded Melville E. Stone as general manager four years ago. He resigns to be free to form other business connections.

President Frank B. Noyes of Washington, on behalf of the board, expresses its regret at Martin's determination to retire and its appreciation of his "intelligent and unremitting devotion to the interests of the organization," expressing the hope that Martin's continuance in his present position during the last year has been due to the president's earnest request.

REBUKES STORE MANAGER FOR DELAY IN $50 HOLDUP

Dale O. Sullivan, manager of a Kroger store at 5390 Easton avenue, was busy waiting on six customers at 3:45 p. m. yesterday when another man walked in and loitered about until all the other persons had gone.

"What will you have?" asked the manager. "I'll take cakes for mine," he replied. "Put 'em up."

While he was extracting $50 from the cash register he rebuked Sullivan for keeping him waiting so long.

MINE RESCUERS STILL AT WORK

Hope of Saving 38 Trapped Men, However, Virtually Abandoned.

By the Associated Press.

NEWCASTLE, England, April 1.

A new pump with a capacity of 1000 gallons a minute, will be taken to the Montague Colliery, Southwood, today, but the crews attempting to rescue 38 miners trapped by a flood in the pit Monday, believe that even with this machine it may take several weeks to pump out the water.

Parties coming out of the mine this morning said the continued inrush of water had halted every effort to penetrate the workings where the men and boys were trapped. Hope of a rescue was virtually abandoned yesterday, but the rescue parties nevertheless are continuing their work feverishly.

Brown or Yellow Cab

No matter how great the distance, the trip can be made quickly. There will be no inconvenient street car changes to make, or worry over tire or engine trouble with your own car, the ride being made comfortably, quickly and conveniently. The whole family riding for the single fare.

Now 5 Can Ride as Cheap as 1

No Charge for Extra Passengers

Here is a fair illustration of efficient and economical Brown and Yellow Cab service. In order to go from Kingshighway to 5500 Hartner, it is necessary to make three street car changes and walk two blocks. In a Brown or Yellow Cab, the trip can be made very quickly with a charge of about 40c, which when divided between 5 passengers reduces the cost to practically street car fare.

Four Film Distributors Cited.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 1.—Motion picture films when released under changed titles must bear their original titles as prominently as their new, the Federal Trade Commission held yesterday in an order against four respondents in New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

The order named the Capital Film Exchange of Philadelphia, William Alexander, New York; Herman Rifkin, Boston, and the Film Distributors' League, Inc., of New York. The commission charged that while "The Three Musketeers," a film featuring Douglas

Fairbanks, was being shown in New York, the respondents released an old Fairbanks film entitled "D'Artagnan," under the name of "The Three Musketeers," using confusing advertising matter and other means to mislead the public into believing the released film was the same as the latter picture.

SHIPPING BOARD SELLS FIVE LINERS FOR $5,625,000

Accepts Bid of Dollar Interests Over That of Pacific Mail After Bitter Debate.

ADMIRAL BENSON OPPOSED DEAL

Says It Gives One Company Exclusive Control of Pacific Commerce Under American Flag.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-23 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, April 1.—Following prolonged and at times bitter discussion between members of the Shipping Board, by a vote of 4 to 3, accepted the $5,625,000 bid of R. Stanley Dollar for the five splendid passenger-freight liners operated for the Government between San Francisco and the Orient by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.

In accepting the bid yesterday the board rejected an offer by the Pacific Mail Co. of $6,750,000, which included $1,250,000 cash and $5,500,000 in 7 per cent preferred stock in a corporation to be organized by the concern. Dollar agreed to pay one-third cash for the ships, the remainder to be secured by a first mortgage, drawing 4 1/2 per cent interest.

The bitter feeling among board members can be realized from the declaration of Rear Admiral Benson that in his opinion the acceptance of the Dollar bid violates practically every principle and policy of the Merchant Marine act. Together with Vice Chairman Plummer and Commissioner Thompson he voted to reject both bids for these 535-foot ships.

Members voting for the Dollar bid were Chairman O'Connor and Commissioners Lissner, Haney and Hill. The three last named members constitute the Ship Sales Committee.

The action of the board normally would be final, even with a 4-to-3 division, but there is a possibility that President Coolidge may set aside the decision.

Benson's Statement.
In defending his position against acceptance of the Dollar bid, Admiral Benson said:

"The Dollar interests already own seven of the 507-foot President-type ships, which operate in the Pacific and parallel the present service of the Pacific Mail. They also operate five 535-foot President-type ships out of the Puget Sound area to the Orient. By the purchase of the five ships now being operated by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. they gain complete control of American combination passenger and freight steamship service in the Pacific.

"This combination places the five ships still owned by the Government and operated by the Dollar interests at a disadvantage. It also places the American shipper sending his goods through the Western ports of the United States at the mercy of one American operator or forces him into the hands of the foreign shipping interests."

Defense of Contract.
Commissioner Lissner said: "I feel that the country is to be congratulated in the consummation of this important transaction for the purchase of Government vessels on the guaranteed service plan. The Dollar interests are at the present time probably the largest private owners and operators of ships sailing under the American flag. They are now operating under the American flag around the world passenger service with bi-weekly sailings, with vessels purchased from the Shipping Board which is the first regular globe-girdling passenger service under any flag.

"If the price paid will permit of the making of profits, the main purpose of the merchant marine act of permanent maintenance of operation will have been facilitated because replacement of obsolescent vessels must be made out of reserves set aside for earnings. "Only those consistently favoring continued Government operation and as consistently opposing sales for guaranteed service can find fault with the transaction. On the other hand, it should be most encouraging to those who want to see the Government's shipping venture transferred to private operation at the earliest practicable date."

AND 90 HOURS EXTRA DUTY

Second Officer, Charged With Theft, Resigns From the Department.Patrolman Isaac Bates, a negro policeman attached to the Laclede Avenue Station, was found guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners, and given a fine of $100 and 90
hours extra duty. The charges were based on a complaint of Miss Pinkie Pegues, a negress, guest at the West End Hotel, who in a report to the police charged Bates had threatened her while visiting her. Yesterday she denied he had threatened her in any way.The resignation of Patrolman Joseph J. Knox, Deer Street Station, was accepted by the board.
Knox was suspended after two men named him as being connected with thefts of copper wire from the Atlas Tack Corporation, 3914
North Union boulevard. Knox explained he was leaving the force to keep from embarrassing the department, and inferred he would ask for reinstatement if he proves his innocence.The case of Clarence Abney, 3751 Cass avenue, who claims to have been beaten by the police, will be disposed of at next week's meeting. Allen C. Orrick, president of the board, said Abney, held for the Government, said that Detectives Wren and Norris of the automobile squad, struck him. Another detective also struck him, he said, but he did not know who he was.COMES TO GRIEF TRYING TO

after a preliminary hearing in the court of Justice of the Peace Kaysen in East St. Louis today. Cecil Lee, garage owner of Dupo, is at liberty on bond charged with receiving stolen property in connection with the same case.The chief witness at today's hearing was Patrolman William Ledford, St. Louis officer stationed at the west end of the Free Bridge,
to whom Hanson attempted to sell
a Dodge touring car at Lee's garage after Lee had induced the officer to visit the place to see a car which was for sale. Both were arrested on suspicion when, after Hanson had told of a trip to the Pacific coast he had just taken in the machine, the officer found the speedometer registered only 1400 miles. The machine later was identified as the property of John

HOUSEWORK" HANDS
USE LEMON ON THEM

Keep from dish-water, dirt and grease from cleaning, the stress on sweeping—all are hard on the hands. You must give your hands
the same care, and there's a very simple way to do it.

Keep a California lemon in a saucer always on the sink and rub
the hands after every job you do.

The lemon takes off the soap-curd and dirt. It softens the hands where they tend to harden.
The California lemon is a natural, harmless bleach that keeps the skin white while it makes it soft and smooth.

Try it for ten days and see the results. Get a dozen California lemons now and keep a lemon saucer always on the sink.

Neuritis Means
Nerve Torture

The agonizing pain caused by neuritis has driven thousands of sufferers to the use of narcotics or other disease afflicts mankind

it is producing more excruciating torture than an advanced case
of nerve inflammation.

According to medical science, it is necessary for anyone to resort to and remove it quickly, safely and

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, you must get rid of dandruff. If you don't, you will starve your hair and it will fall out. It doesn't do much good to try to wash it out. The only way to get rid of dandruff is to destroy it. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon;
pour it on your hair when retiring; use your fingers to massage the scalp and rub
it gently with the finger tips.
In the morning, most, if not all, of the dandruff will be gone, and two more applications will completely destroy the dandruff and entirely destroy the germ that causes it. You will find, too, that all itching and burning of the scalp will stop.

You Can't
Comb it
Out

and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

FRICKER GOES TO TRIAL FOR MURDER THIRD TIME TODAY

Jury is Completed at Edwardsville
After a Day and a Half of Examination.
Taking of testimony in the third murder trial of Emil Fricker within six months began in the Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville
before Judge Louis Bernreuter
this morning. The jury, selected from a special venire of 100 men,
was completed at 4:30 p. m. yesterday after a day and a half of examination.

Fricker, as is known, is already under life sentence for the murder of Robert Kehrl, his farmhand, in 1920, and is now facing for a second time the prospect of a death penalty for the murder of John Nungesser, young Highland farmer, who was shot down on the road near his home Sept. 15 last. Both Kehrl and Nungesser were husbands, successively, of Minnie Schlect, Frick-er's former dairy maid.

In Fricker's last trial in the same case, he was saved from the death penalty by four jurors who held out for more than two days for a life term, causing a deadlock.

KANSAS KLAN WINS APPEAL
IN 2-YEAR-OLD OUSTER SUIT

Order Claims Kansas Court Has no Jurisdiction Over Georgia Corporation.

By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., April 1.—The State Supreme Court yesterday allowed the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan a writ of error to take to the United States Supreme Court an appeal from the decision of the State tribunal, which last Jan. 10 ordered the Klan ousted from Kansas until it might secure a charter to operate under the corporation laws. The judgment has closed a two-year ouster suit brought by the State.

The order has not attempted to obtain a charter from the State board since the adverse verdict of the court was handed down. Two of the three board members were elected to office last November in the face of Klan opposition. The appeal of the Klan will be based on the contention, that, as a Georgia corporation operating in Kansas, the State court has no juisdiction over it. Klan attorneys claim the matter involves interstate commerce.

'FRAMEUP' ALLEGED IN NEW
SHEPHERD CASE AFFIDAVITS

Health Commissioner of Chicago Contradicts Story of Faiman Regarding Typhoid Germs.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 1.—New affidavit charging that William D.
Shepherd, under indictment charged with murder, was the victim of "framed" testimony" were taken to the Criminal Court today
by Shepherd's counsel.

The affidavits, to be filed in the renewal of the plea for freedom on bail for Shepherd, which once was denied, dispute the testimony of C.
C. Faiman, head of a science school, who testified he gave Shepherd typhoid germs with which the State charges Shepherd murdered
his foster son, William N. McClintock, to get his $1,000,000 estate.

One affidavit, defense counsel
said, was that of Dr. Herman N.
Bundesen, Health Commissioner of Chicago, who made oath that no
typhoid or other germ cultures
could be taken from the Health Department without the knowledge of two of his assistants, both of whom made affidavits that they did not furnish Faiman with germs.
Faiman said he obtained the germs from the Health Department without any writing or other record being made.

REPUBLICANS STIFLE BILL ON ALDERMEN

Resolution Has to Do With Electing Members of St. Louis Board by Wards.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 1.—A method of killing in committee
such legislation as is not desired
by the controlling force in a House of the Legislature, is illustrated by the death in the House of a proposed constitutional amendment, permitting minority representation
in the St. Louis Board of Aldermen.

The amendment was approved in the Senate, but has been shelved
in the Republican-controlled House Committee on Constitutional Amendments, which has made no effort to consider it or report it out. It is scheduled to remain in a pigeonhole until the end of the session, Senator Kinney introduced a joint and concurrent resolution in the Senate, providing for submission of the proposed amendment at the next general election.

Nature of Amendment.
The amendment would change a section of the State Constitution governing amending of the charter of St. Louis. It would provide for a "house of legislation to be wards" instead of the present provision "at least one house of legislation to be elected by general ticket." Under charter requirements the change would have to be ratified by city voters. It was said after the State Constitution had been amended. Such a proposal was voted on in the last election,
but went down to defeat with several other constitutional amendments.

Effect of such amendment. If put in force would be to break
the Republican control of entire membership of the St. Louis Board of Aldermen. As is known, candidates for aldermen are nominated and elected by city wide vote instead of by the vote within the ward they see kin represent. The proposed change would enable election of Democrats from the Democratic ward, and place a minority group in the Board of Aldermen.

Opposed by G. O. P. Leaders.
Republican politicians in St.
Louis do not regard this amendment with favor, and there has been some opposition communicated to leaders of the Republican majority in the House. It was said, Representative H. Clay Day (Rep.)
of Webster County, chairman of the House Constitutional Amendments Committee, stated on inquiry two weeks ago that he had not paid much attention to the amendment, but would call a meeting of the committee at once to consider it. It was sent to his committee on March 12.

Day is absent from the session,
and other members of the committee today said they had not considered the amendment and did not know what had been done with it. Three members of the committee said they did not know
such an amendment had been proposed. Three St. Louis Republicans, W. S. Sanford, R. R. Stephens and O. J. Papke, are members of the committee.

No Effort to Force Report.
In such circumstances, the House rules enable a motion from the floor to compel the committee to bring out a report on a bill or resolution being held out. In this instance Kinney found no representative in the House to attempt to force a report. The matter affects only the city, and the St.
Louis delegation of 19 Representatives is solidly Republican.
Therefore the resolution, with its proposal for minority representation in St. Louis government continues to slumber in the committee.

Grow with Commerce!

Most business calls for banking facilities of a capital and character. The helpful bank must cooperate actively in various problems of business and finance. Successful firms require an efficient bank, and whether business has increased or is awaiting the guidance of a new banking counsel makes little difference in the commerce of the country.

There are many hundreds of commercial concerns that have grown with The National Bank of Commerce, and whose officials appreciate the extent to which their firms have been benefited through over 28 years of banking.

"Commerce" has taken individual men and money and concentrated them in a sound and business association that has made this institution the commercial bank preeminent big enough to give experience to be relied on in any situation.

Constant contact with its own customers in over 100 lines of business has also helped to make "Commerce" counsel valuable. Fifteen directors from among the commercial leaders of St. Louis lend seasoned ability to the bank's policies.

"Commerce" does business constantly with more than 2,000 banks in the United States. It has direct connections with 3,000 banks throughout the world. Private wires stretch from its banking houses to all of the country's large financial centers.

Business firms grow with banks that grow.

Thursday is Commercial Day

In the contest now being conducted employees have secured more than $6,000,000 in new business. But new accounts brought to "Commerce" will do more than help the bank grow; they will help themselves grow, too. Business executives are invited to visit the bank Thursday, meet its officials and directors and inspect its exceptional facilities, equipment and personnel.

Old Chicago Fair Building Burned.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 1.—A spectacular fire yesterday practically destroyed the old World Fair German Building, built in 1892 and one of the few surviving from the exposition. The structure was wooden inside, dry and seasoned and burned like a bonfire. Hundreds of persons saw the ornate tower.

patterned after that of the Town Hall in Rothenberg, Germany, go crashing through the roof. Along with the building a store of treasures gathered there for the World's Fair was destroyed, including rare pieces of enameled ware and other articles of German handicraft.

Col. Coolidge Quits Syrup Trade.
CHICAGO, April 1.—Col. John Coolidge, father of the President

The President's father replied: "I have let my lot. Walter W. Lynds makes nice sugar or syrup and can tell you price of either delivered at your place by parcel post. Respectfully, John C. OSBORNE WOOD BACK IN AMERICA, BUT NOT BROKE

Arrives at Tampa on a Freighter and Shows Stack of American and Spanish Currency.

'EASY COME, EASY GO,'
HE SAYS OF FORTUNE

Declares All His Checks in Europe Were Paid—Will Try Luck in Wall Street
Again.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TAMPA, Fla., April 1.—Indignant at detractors who portrayed him as a man surrendered to debauchery, and professing penitence for his spectacular conduct abroad, Osborne C. Wood, former army lieutenant and son of Major-General Leonard Wood, stepped ashore here from the freighter West Chet-tac, which he boarded at Cadiz, Spain, March 12.

Wood, who talked freely with reporters yesterday at the quarantine station, quickly took exception to the cable report that on his departure from Spain his fortune of $850,000, acquired in Wall street speculations while in the Philippines, had been dissipated except for $2. He drew forth $2000 in American money and presented a sheaf of Spanish pesetas of one thousand denomination.

"I don't know how much this Spanish stuff adds to," he said, "but I'm not broke."

Worried at Religious Opposition.
He was particularly disturbed at learning that the Epworth League of Florida, supported by the Ku Klux Klan, had opposed a public welcome for him.

The West Chet-tac arrived at Tampa bar early yesterday. The yacht Temorangerie hove to with newspaper men, the representative of a really concern that had offered him employment, a deputy customs inspector and two bags of mail. Baggage inspection was brief. There was no duty to pay.

Wood smilingly submitted to medical examination and boarded the newspaper yacht, expressing eagerness to get ashore. He obliged photographers readily.

Prefers Salvation Army Brand.
When informed of the Epworth League's stand he said:

"I have come home with the determination to go into business and make good. If in the first port I reach at home the church says 'You're a bum and not wanted in Tampa,' where can a fellow turn for encouragement? I prefer the Salvation Army brand of religion, which teaches that a man may be down but never out. I am pleased that the Salvation Army issued a statement to that effect in answer to the Epworth League."

Asked about his gambling losses abroad, Wood said, remorsefully, "I made it in speculation, but what a jackass I was to lose it all," then, with a shrug, he added, "Easy come, easy go."

Angry at Bad Check Stories.
His indignation was expressed with deep expletives when asked about cabled stories that he had left many bad checks behind.

"Here is the vice of the police chief of Cadiz," he said. "The Spanish law requires that chief to vize the passport when a stranger is in town more than two days. Do you think I'd have gotten this vize if I had passed bad checks in Spain and they were looking for me? I have filed suit against the Paris edition of a Chicago paper for $100,000 for stories of that kind they printed. If they were reproduced in this country I will enter another suit here."

Wood said he had enjoyed "great luck" in gambling in Paris, Deauville, Biarritz and Spain, but that in Athens a streak of evil fortune depleted his account tremendously. He called Greek gamblers "crooked" and Parisian gamblers "strictly square."

"What was your largest losing?" he was asked.

"I can't answer," he replied. "It gives me a pain to think about it."

He went on: "All my checks were met. I didn't carry any debt. I took the freighter because if I took a large steamship I'd have been pestered by a lot of people. I have come back to regain my fortune and I'm going to try my luck in Wall street again. I've had a number of flattering offers of positions and am going to make good."

Wood plans to remain in Tampa a few days.

Warning on Use of Bunion Pads.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 1.—A warning against the use of bunion pads as a dressing in vaccination against smallpox was issued today by Surgeon-General Cummings. He said this use of such pads "appears to be more common than would be supposed," and that as a result several fatal cases of tetanus recently have occurred.

2117 ALCOHOLIC PATIENTS AT CITY HOSPITAL LAST YEAR

During the fiscal year closing last midnight 2117 alcoholics were admitted to City Hospital, a reduction over the previous year, when 2772 persons were treated for alcoholism.

The number of alcoholics admitted to the institution in the fiscal year just closed was a reduction over a number of pre-prohibition years. In 1914-15 there were 2556 alcoholic patients received. The highest number of alcoholic patients received during a fiscal period during the last 10 years was in 1922-23, when 3614 persons were treated for alcoholism. The number of persons admitted to the institution during the fiscal period just closed for all causes was 15,556. Of this number 1514

M' MANUS ACCEPTS TERMS AND WILL JOIN THE BROWNS IN SOUTH

New Terms Are Not Announced By Bill Friel

Browns' Second Baseman Agrees to Terms and Will Join Club at Birmingham.

JACOBSON STILL OUT

Center Fielder Is Only Holdout Remaining on Browns' Squad.

Bill Friel, business manager of the Browns, announced at noon today that Marty McManus, second baseman of the club, had just told him over long distance telephone from Chicago that he was signing his contract and would depart immediately to join the team at Birmingham, Ala. Friel would not discuss the terms of McManus' contract other than to say that matters had been arranged to the entire satisfaction of both parties and that McManus had indicated that he was pleased with the terms.

The signing of McManus leaves only one holdout still in the hold-out class. This is Bill Jacobson, center fielder. Bill and the club have been unable to agree on terms.

It has been stated that McManus' original demand was for a raise of $1500. At one stage of negotiations the two parties were within $500 of an agreement. Then McManus, who was in St. Louis, departed for his home in Chicago and negotiations were closed. Now the inference is that he had received the full $3000 salary demand.

Jacobson wants $8000. Jacobson has stated that he will sign a one-year contract for about $8000 or a two-year contract for $7500. He reserves the right, however, to have the 10-day clause stricken from the contract.

Jacobson has been working out in the spring training camp of the Milwaukee club, but it is understood that McManus has gone on outside work.

During the absence of McManus, the Browns have used Robertson at second base and Rice and Lamotte at third.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY DOG SHOW TO OPEN AT COLISEUM ON FRIDAY

What promises to be the greatest dog show ever held West of the Mississippi River will open Friday morning at the Coliseum, under the auspices of the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club.

More than 700 entries, representing the best individuals of 50 different breeds, will be on exhibition on the benches. This is nearly 200 more dogs than were exhibited at the recent Chicago show, declared to be "the most successful ever held."

In addition to the contests between dogs of different breeds for supremacy in their classes, there will be several spectacular features, including daily exhibitions of E. P. Clark's Eskimo dog dogs, which from triumphs in the far North, Clark will bring his complete outfit for Arctic travel.

Another feature will be the daily contests of trained police dogs, showing how criminals are tracked and captured.

Of the entries in the show more than 120 are bird dogs. The colts display will also be the best and largest ever seen West of the Mississippi, there being 34 dogs entered in the specialty show, and 73 in the all-breed show.

The show will continue through Friday, Saturday and Sunday, from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. each day.

MUNN AGAIN DEFEATS MONDT IN TWO FALLS

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, April 1.—Wayne "Doc" Munn, champion of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, last night put Joe Toots Mondt of Greeley, Colo., to the mat twice in 52 minutes and 25 seconds before a crowd of between 8000 and 9000 spectators jamming the Coliseum. The receipts were between $25,000 and $30,000.

He picked Mondt up with a crotch hold and half-nelson, after 35 minutes and 15 seconds, slamming him to the floor and falling on him.

The championship claimant obtained the second fall in 17 minutes and 20 seconds with the half-nelson and crotch hold.

How to Play B.I.L.L.I.A.R.D.S

By CHAS. C. PETERSON (This is the sixteenth of a series of instructive articles on billiards written by Charles C. Peterson, fancy shot expert and instructor.)

WEIGHT AND LENGTH OF CUE

Young billiard players frequently make the mistake of choosing a very heavy cue with a small tip. I urge all beginners to use a 19 or 20-ounce cue with a large tip.

The fact that a heavy cue enables a player to get greater distance into a cue ball seems to appeal to young players who like to see a ball hit a lot of cushions. That, of course, is the reason a heavier cue is desirable for three-cushion play. It is necessary in three-cushions to drive the ball farther than in balkline or straight rail.

Since Schaefer, Hopper, Cochran, Horne and other leading professional players have attained a high degree of skill, after years of study and practice, it may be interesting to know that they all use cues of about the same weight and length. Schaefer, the champion, uses a 21-ounce cue.

Hopper prefers a cue weighing from 19½ to 20½ ounces. Almost every balkline player of note uses a cue weighing between 19 and 21 ounces. I know of no leading player who uses a stick heavier than 21 ounces. They all use approximately one-half inch tips. Many beginners prefer a small tip, but it has been proved that accuracy and firmness of stroke and control of the cue ball are better served by a one-half inch tip. As to length, there is but little variation. The leading international players favor a cue 54 inches long.

Cues Standardized. Weight and length of cue and size of tip have in recent years become standardized, but I can recall when George Supton used a great broad tip measuring nine-sixteenths inch in width. Then, very suddenly he went to the other extreme of a very narrow tip. He was experimenting, as were other professional players, and finally they have all adopted the one-half inch size. Over in England, where smaller balls are used, a smaller tip is used by the best players.

Professional players use a very hard leather tip. It is only necessary that the surface be soft enough to permit of a slight roughened so that the chalk will take hold. Soft tips are to be avoided.

Young Hallahan Has Fine Curve And Fast Ball

Control Not So Good Last Year But He Has Shown Steady Improvement.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Seldom, if ever, has Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals been as enthusiastic over a young prospect as he is over Bill Hallahan, the pudgy young left-hander who has conceded a chance to break in regularly when Rickey dishes out pitching assignments to his twirlers this season.

"If we had been forced to pay $25,000, $50,000 or $75,000 for Hallahan we probably would be calling him the find of the season," said Rickey after the pitcher had washed away the Cardinals' fifth game in the last four days. Hallahan had pitched one inning against the San Francisco club and among other things had struck out Eddie Mulligan, the St. Louisan.

"But Hallahan came to us as an obscure unknown," continued Rickey, "and for that reason probably we are not taking him as seriously as we should. With the amount of stuff he possesses, I don't see how he can keep from winning."

Control Was Bad.
Hallahan was a veritable wild man from Borneo in Syracuse, Fort Smith and Kalamazoo, where he pitched at different times last season. But aside from his wildness, he has a fast ball that fairly sizes as it shoots past the batter. He also owns a curve that is well-nigh unhitatable and his success depends on his ability to control his pitches.

He got a couple of early-season chances this spring and was as wild as a hare. Rickey and Shot-ton all but decided that they would let Fred Hunter or Carl Mitze do the worrying about Hallahan this season. But they remembered his natural ability and gave him another chance. He looked better this time. And so it has been in each of his games since that time.

May Pitch Today.
Weather permitting, the Cardinals and Seals will try to get started in their long series today and Hallahan may be the pitcher. If Rickey decides to rest him a day or two, Hunt then will get the assignment while Clyde Day will also show in this series.

The suggestion has been made to Rogers Hornsby that he take the management of a team in a proposed winter league in California next year. Hornsby managed a club in the winter league four years ago when the rival managers were Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth and Larry Holtzman. In the proposed league it is planned to have four stars to manage the clubs but no other major league players will be permitted to perform. The suggestion has been made that the teams include players drafted from the sand lots or leagues of low classification in the hope that the managers can develop some future stars.

GLO-COing the Hair Brings Its Reward.

—in double measure. As a means of giving the hair that live, natural lustre and keeping it neatly combed in any style all day, GLO-CO, the liquid hair dressing, is incomparable. A still more important advantage is GLO-CO's tonic effect in aiding better scalp hygiene. It combats scalp disorders, thus removing the causes of dry, itching, unruly hair. Its effect in cleansing the scalp and beautifying the hair is pronounced.

GLO-CO enjoys widespread popularity with men and boys of every station who wish to appear well groomed, because it works equally well on hair brushed lightly back or smoothly down. It has a delicate quickly-passing odor and will not stain. A few drops each morning suffices.

GIBBONS AND TUNNEY MATCHED TO MEET JUNE 12, AT NEW YORK

Heavyweight to Fight 15 Rounds At Polo Grounds

Gibbons Claims Dempsey's Crown and Says Battle Will Be for World's Title.

DATE MERELY TENTATIVE

Arrangements Are Subject to Approval of State Athletic Commission.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 1.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul heavyweight, and Gene Tunney, American lightweight champion, will meet in a 15-round match at the Polo Grounds on the night of June 12. Articles of agreement were signed today by the managers of the two principals and Jimmy De Forest, matchmaker of the Polo Grounds A. C.

Gibbons will receive 30 per cent of the gate receipts as his share of the purse, while Tunney will receive 20 per cent. Both fighters agreed to post forfeit fees of $10,000.

Reds to Release Topel.
By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, O., April 1.—Harry Topel, recruit infiltrator with whom Manager Hendricks was very favorably impressed during the training season, will be released to the Reading club.

Boxer Bites Opponent On the Ear in Clinch, Loses Match on Foul

NEW YORK, April 1.—INCENT (PEPPER) MARTIN, Brooklyn lightweight, was disqualified in the seventh round of a bout here last night for using his teeth as well as his hands in a contest with Joe Colmers of New York. Referee Gordon declared he had stopped the match because Martin had inflicted a severe injury on Colmers by biting his left ear during a clinch.

In announcing the signing of articles, De Forest said the match would be for the heavyweight championship of the world. This stipulation was demanded by Gibbons in view of the fact that his challenge for a match with Dempsey was not accepted and that the State Athletic Commission had returned his forfeit fee of $2500, which he had posted with the challenge. Gibbons contends, therefore, that he is the heavyweight champion.

Coliseum Results

Jack Horner and Mike Sansone Gain Decisions; Power Defeated

Too Much Caution Takes the Edge Off Star Bout of Coliseum Show—Alfano Has to Go Extra Round to Win Over Billy Sincoff.

By Dent McKimling.
Too much caution served to take the edge off the star bouts of the amateur boxing show at the Coliseum last night. Amateur boxers usually throw caution to the wind and rely on the power of slams and fallops, but last night the crowd was treated to an unusual amount of defensive skill. As a result the principals in several bouts were greeted with jeers and "boos" for their efforts.

Three New York boxers appeared on the bill. One of them, Joe Littman, welterweight, won a decision, outpointing Frank Power in three rounds. In the other intercity affairs, Mike Sansone of St. Louis outpointed Mike Collins in three rounds and Jack Horner won a point decision from Al Delgado of New York in three rounds.

Sansone Barely Wins.
Even Mike Sansone, who has seldom failed to put many thrills and some crushing blows into his every exhibition, appeared last night to prefer to merely protect himself. This is a dangerous procedure for Sansone because his greatest asset is not boxing skill but hard punching. As a result Collins came within a whisper of winning the decision. He opened a cut over Sansone's eye in the first round. Had he been more aggressive he might have won. He had a kick in his right hand that easily matched Sansone's wallop for steam.

Power, who had been outpointed by Littman at Baltimore recently, went into the ring determined to even the score. Littman apparently respected his foe. There were some lively exchanges in the first round but when Power found that Littman caught and blocked almost every lead, he slowed up his attack perceptibly. Although Littman confined his attack to counter blows, forcing Power to go all the leading, he performed his task so well that the St. Louisan finished a poor second at the end of three rounds. Power did not sting Littman once although in the third round he waded in, hoping to slip over a smashing cross to the jaw. Littman's excellent defense and hard left hook proved very effective.

New Yorker Hangs On.
Jack Horner had difficulty drawing Al Delgado out of his shell. Horner pressed continuously, inviting Delgado to stand up and give and take punches but the New Yorker preferred to hang on with both hands. The damage done on each side was about even but Horner was the aggressor and deserved Referee Sharpe's decision on that score if not for better boxing ability.

In both bouts in which the New Yorkers lost the decision, the factor which counted most against them was a tendency to slow up the action by refusing to lead and

Nurmi Winner in Last Eastern Race

Ray and Hahn Forced to Quit in Mile and a Half Special.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Mass., April 1.—Paavo Nurmi last night ran three competitors into the ground in his final race in the East, the mile and a half special of the Elks' games here. Not only did his pace force Joie Ray and Lloyd Hahn out of the contest, but his time of 8m. 47s., eight seconds slower than his own record, was termed the best ever turned in on a 12-lap-to-the-mile track. Jimmy Connolly of Washington, the only other runner to finish, was three-quarters of a lap behind Nurmi.

Ray, after twice heading Nurmi in the beginning of the race, dropped out five and one-half laps from the end as the result of a pulled muscle, suffered recently at Austin, Tex. Hahn quit two laps from the end.

While Ritola clipped 12 seconds from the track record in running a two-mile race, Frank Hussen, Boston college freshman, won the 40-yard dash, the other feature of the games.

Your False Gods

By Sophie Irene Loeb

ONE who once has been on the highest pinnacle of fame and fortune, and held a place to be envied by all, made this significant statement to me:

"It should ever get to a position of great power again I would pay homage only to those dear, modest souls who have proved their real friendship in these days when I have not been in the limelight, and who have shown their real love for me alone, rather than the many to whom I paid respect and honor when I had much of it to bestow."

And it was this person's words that has prompted the writing of this article.

How, true it is! Nearly everybody goes through life doing honor to some person with a big name, or a place in society, putting themselves out in entertainment or otherwise basking in their glory, and has done little or nothing for the persons who have been closest to them, who have stood by them and who love them truly.

There is the man who has the most charming wife and family, and yet who would give up their society many an evening in order to be at the home of Mr. So-and-So, who has a high-sounding name.

There is the woman who will drag herself from one pink tea to another so as not to hurt the feelings of some well-known hostess, when she might better have been taking some dear loving friend to some place of amusement and gotten a real thrill out of the experience.

There is the man who will join a club in which he is not really wanted in order to be able to say that he belongs to that organization because of its exclusiveness, when he might better have gathered about him for his pastimes those who really care for him and those who truly appreciate his company.

There is the man whose one purpose is to make money and who spends endless thought and energy on how to escape and how to some magnate who would not give him a nickel if he did not have something from which a sure return would come.

Always, always, nearly every one has his false god whom he worships. As a general thing, he only realizes the futility of it when he gets into a position where he needs help or sympathy. He rarely ever finds it with those to whom he has paid marked attention, but rather with one whom he has perhaps neglected or treated indifferently.

Most of the time, because of the goodness of such people and because of their unassuming manners and honesty, they are neglected the most.

When You Entertain.

If it is a card party, match partners by cutting a heart, a spade, a diamond and a club out of cardboard, the color to depend upon the occasion. For instance, for a St. Patrick's party use green cardboard. If there are more than four tables use a different shade of green for the second set of symbols.

Cut each of these cards into four uneven sections. Number the heart sections 11, 12, 13 and 14; the diamond from 21 to 24; the spade 31 to 34, and the club from 41 to 44, and so on. Place the even numbers in one receptacle and the odd in another. Have the ladies each select a piece of cardboard out of the one and the gentlemen out of the other. Then tell them to fit the puzzles together. Of course, each symbol must be cut in different-shaped sections.

Those holding the numbers from 11 to 14 will occupy the first table, the four holders of the numbers in the twenties the second table, and so on. At each table numbers 1 and 2 are partners and 3 and 4 the other partners.

If there is a large number of guests, or you desire to make it easier for the partners to find each other, cut each card symbol from a different shade of green cardboard and have fac-similes in standards on each respective table. In that case, instead of numbering the cut sections, gummed seals might be used.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

What Could They Do About It?

THE Old Pasture no longer looked like the Old Pasture. You wouldn't have recognized it for the Old Pasture. No one would. From most of it the young trees and the brush and the brambles had been cut and burned. There were great black places where the fire had burned. The Old Pasture was ruined. At least, that is what most of the little people said. It did rather look that way. They had a lot to say about it. There was a meeting over in the Green Forest. Sammy Jay was there. So was Blacky the Crow. Chatterer the Red Squirrel was there. So were Peter Rabbit and Old Man Coyote and Reddy Fox and Bob White and Mrs. Grouse and Jimmy Skunk and Bobby Coon and Buster Bear and a whole lot of the feathered folk.

"I would like to know where I am going to get blueberries," growled Buster Bear.

"What is it that I can do?" asked Buster.

"You can drive Farmer Brown's Boy away from the Old Pasture every time he comes there," declared Blacky. "You are just the one to do it. You are bigger than he, and he would run from you."

"Just the thing!" cried all the other little people. "No one else can do anything, but Buster Bear can."

But Buster was shaking his head. "No, no," said he. "We must think of some other plan."

"Are you afraid?" asked Sammy Jay in his sauciest manner. Buster Bear pretended not to hear him. "The fact is," said he, "I haven't the time. I would be very glad to chase him away if I happened to be there when he came. But I really haven't the time to sit around and wait for him to come. I have other things to attend to."

"Fraidy! Fraidy! Buster Bear's a fraidy!" cried Sammy Jay. Buster glared up at Sammy, but, of course, he couldn't catch him. Then he saw that all the other little people were turning their heads so as to hide their grins, and he knew that they knew that he was afraid. This made him very angry. "After all," said he, "it is too late to do anything now. The mischief has been done. If you'll excuse me, I think I'll be moving along." Off shuffled Buster Bear, while Sammy Jay continued to shriek gleefully, "Fraidy! Fraidy!"

Then all the tongues began to wag at once. Every one had something to say. They all declared that Farmer Brown's Boy was no longer their friend. Some of them said that they had always known that sooner or later he would do something dreadful, and that they never had trusted him. But others were simply disappointed in him and were not yet ready to believe that he wasn't the friend they had believed him to be for so long. But they all agreed that it was a dreadful thing that had happened to the Old Pasture, and that they ought to do something about it. But what could they do?

FAMOUS WOMEN

ANNE DE ROHAN.

ANNE DE ROHAN, daughter of Catherine de Parthenay, heiress to the house of Soissons, was born in 1589 and acquired, like her mother, a high reputation in the literary world. She would have been one of the greatest poetesses of her age, but her devoted poetry turned her talent into another channel. She died, unmarried, in 1649.

She was a Protestant and was celebrated for her courage as well as her learning.

PRUNE AND BREAD PUDDING.

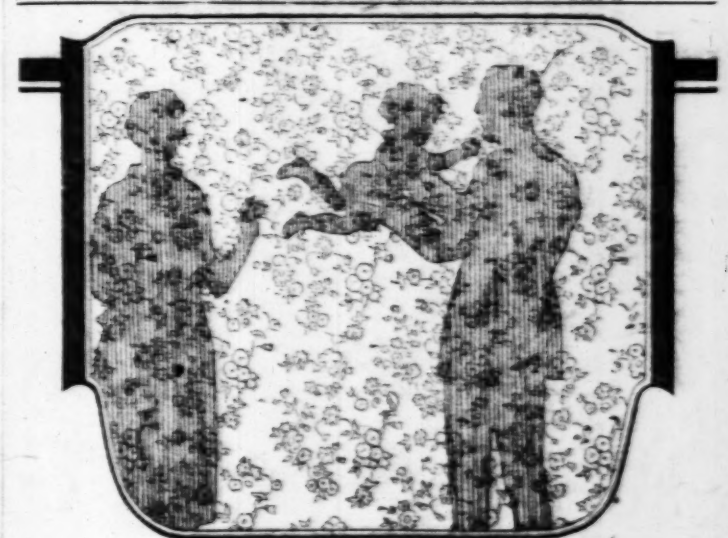

Butter a quart baking dish and put a layer of stoned cooked prunes in the bottom. Over these put a layer of buttered white bread cut in pieces to fit the dish, then pour in two and one-half cupfuls of milk mixed with two well beaten eggs, one-half cupful sugar and a few grains of salt and nutmeg. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. until firm in the center and brown and crusty on top.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Of Loneliness.

He dwelt within the busy town where countless lives were spent, and daily, nightly, up and down men's restless footsteps went. Life's legions hourly passed him by, men kin in thought and deed; he saw them go with careless eyes, nor heeded race or creed. So, all along the year's way road he took his cheerless way, and loneliness beside him strode to sadden every day. Another dwelt upon a plain far out from all his kind; he found a brother in the rain, a comrade in the wind. As day by day he passed along the trackless, empty way, he joyed in every thrush's song, in every daisy spray. He loved men all; though far away he shared their hopes and fears, and never knew a lonely day through all his happy years!

Fish Chowder.

The fish for chowder needs be very fresh: cod, haddock or lake fish may be used. Skin the fish and remove the flesh in two long fillets; cut these in two-inch pieces and set aside; there should be three or four pounds; cover the head, body bones, broken in pieces, and trimmings with cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point, then let simmer half an hour. Cut a two-inch cube of fat salt pork into small bits and try out the fat slowly to avoid discoloring; in this suite one medium-sized sliced onion, without browning, add fat and onion to the saucepan in which the head and bones are simmering and strain the whole over the pieces of fish. Add one quart of potato cubes that have been parboiled five minutes and drained, one tablespoon of salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper and cook until the potatoes are tender (about 15 minutes) then add one quart of scalded milk, three tablespoonfuls of butter and eight or 10 hard-water crackers split and soaked in cold milk to cover and moisten throughout; otherwise they will be soft on the outside and dry and hard on the inside. If a thicker consistency is desired cream together one-third cup each of butter and flour and adding the crackers. Serve in soup instantly until a thin white sauce is formed, then add to the chowder before adding the crackers. Serve in soup plates.

Chocolate Cake.

One cup white sugar, two teaspoonfuls cocoa or one square unsweetened chocolate, one-fourth cup butter, one egg, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half cup sour milk, one teaspoon baking soda mixed with one and one-half cups flour, one-fourth cup boiling water. Mix together in above order and bake in shallow layer pans.

French Fried Onions.

Peel good sized Spanish onions and cut in crosswise slices one-fourth inch thick. Cut through to the center of each slice so the onions will be in strings, roll in slightly beaten egg white diluted with a little milk or water, season well with salt and pepper, then toss in fine dry bread crumbs. Place in a frying basket and fry in deep fat, hot enough to brown a bit of bread in a minute—350 degrees Fahrenheit. Drain on paper before serving.

MARRIAGE SCALES

CHAPTER 16. FATE WHIRLS THE DISTANT. THE unfolding of love to Doris and Craig Cullum held her in a perpetual and worry for Doris. Mariana had adapted herself to the casual manner toward that was particularly baffling. She recalled mournfully the old when she had been so sweet, tender and alluring.

Charles, who was always so tempered and optimistic and inclined to scoff at most things as imaginary, found himself set with dark forebodings regarding Mariana. Being a man of the world, he couldn't deny Mariana had reached the point where the advent of another is almost inevitable.

She wanted romance and had somehow lost the knack of supplying it, or else she deliberately refused to find it in him. Only hoped some adventurist wouldn't take advantage of situation. Her beauty was a gem.

The alluring charm of the world beckoned Mariana. She wore to death of bridge and gown and dress in stuffy, artificial drawing rooms. The light, airy, half hall, the floor, she even experienced a bit with light kisses in the corners of the garden, but she found them distasteful. She didn't appeal to her. The men, she disliked. She disliked being touched by anyone who was unattractive to her. She wished could be kissed by some one loved desperately. But she knew she never would be, now.

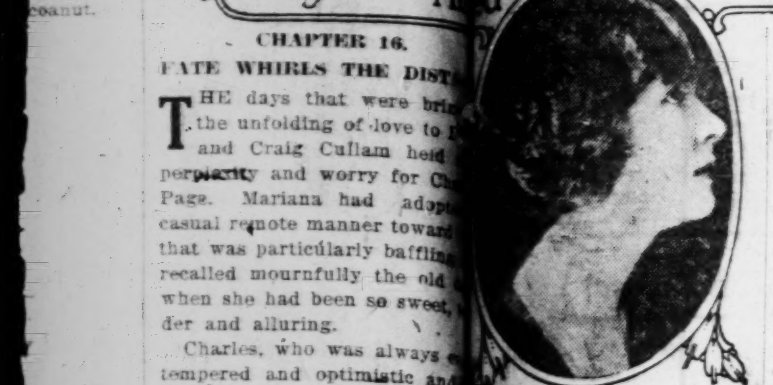

She regretted the rebuff she had given Doris, who was always so kind and full of ideas for her. Once or twice, she had seen Doris' apartment but found the maid at home. Would madam leave her maid? No, never mind, madam answered. She would call again. She supposed that Doris was busy. She had let Doris capture her. Anything for a change, she thought. The first opportunity, she would invite Doris to one of her parties. It would smooth over slight rift between them. Mariana's having to humble herself to an apology, Doris cherished spite, but she had a good deal of pride. She would die where she didn't honestly believe she was wanted.

If Mariana had guessed that was happening to Doris, she would have had her car out and been at Doris' doorstep within 15 minutes after hearing the news. And would have been there with her eyes. Doris and an impossible! But no bread! Doris' romance reached her. Friends were as separate as poles. Their little social even their shopping belt, rarely by all! When the pageant is over, we shall meet again likely. It's absurd of you to think there's any sentiment about it." Isabel laughed, quite unimpressed.

"I suppose Cullum's giving all his valuable time, when he's not playing, just because he loves this chorus." No doubt it's that same affection for it that makes him watch you with those attractive eyes of his, all the time you're across the room talking to somebody else, and Mrs. Amos Hunter Deering is beseeching him to accept her invitation for a dinner to the 'Garde de la Creme de la Creme'.

Doris ignored the sarcasm. She believed, in her heart of hearts, that Craig Cullum loved her. The woman in her knew it, but she didn't tell her so!
